Race and Suicide in South Africa Fatima Meer, 2022-10-05 Originally published in 1976 Race and Suicide in South Africa synthesises the two dimensions of suicide the personal and the social phenomenon Its approach is Durkheimian in the use of court records and phenomenological in the examination of actual cases About 1500 cases of suicide in Durban from 1940-70 are analysed in terms of race sex occupation marital status economic status family type and size residential area time and method used What emerges is a revealing picture of suicide in South African ethnic groups The findings confute the idea of Durkheim and others that behaviour in suicide conforms to certain universal principles and suggest the crucial role of particular social conditions in determining suicide trends while at the same time challenging the proposition that a high suicide rate is associated with high status Instead the author found that there were common emotional syndromes among suicides but there were contributed to by different social factors

Victorian Suicide Barbara Gates, 2014-07-14 When Viscount Castlereagh leader of the House of Commons and architect of the Grand Alliance committed suicide in 1822 the coroner's inquest could consider only two legal verdicts insanity or self murder Public outrage greeted his burial in Westminster Abbey the tradition lingered that a suicide's burial place be at a crossroads with a stake through the heart to keep the lost soul from wandering Probing a remarkable variety of sources and individual cases Barbara Gates shows how attitudes toward suicide changed between Castlereagh's death and the end of the century By 1900 the Victorians' moral censure of suicide and the accompanying denial that it was a widespread problem had been replaced by a more compassionate response and also by an unfounded belief in a suicide epidemic which Thomas Hardy described as a coming universal wish not to live Exposing a rich area of interaction between history and literature and utilizing the methodology of the new historicism Gates discusses topics ranging from the plot for Wuthering Heights to Victorian shilling shockers Among other findings she includes evidence that Victorian middle class men particularly tended to make suicide the province of other selves of men belonging to other times or places of monsters or of women Originally published in 1988 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905
