The Teaching of Ethics in the Social Sciences Donald P. Warwick,1980      Teaching the Social Studies Edgar Dawson,1927      Ethics in Social Science Research Maria K. E. Lahman,2017-11-27 Ethics in Social Science Research Becoming Culturally Responsive provides a thorough grounding in research ethics along with examples of real world ethical dilemmas in working with vulnerable populations Author Maria K E Lahman aims to help qualitative research students design ethically and culturally responsive research with communities that may be very different from their own Throughout compelling first person accounts of ethics in human research both historical and contemporary are highlighted and each chapter includes vignettes written by the author and her collaborators about real qualitative research projects

Educational Leadership for Ethics and Social Justice Anthony H. Normore,Jeffrey S. Brooks,2014-01-01 The purpose of this book is to examine and learn lessons from the way leadership for social justice is conceptualized in several disciplines and to consider how these lessons might improve the preparation and practice of school leaders In particular we examine philosophy anthropology sociology economics political science public policy and psychology Our contention is that the field of educational leadership might consider taking a step backward in order to take several forward That is educational leadership researchers might re examine social justice both in terms of social and individual dynamics and as disciplinary specific multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary phenomenon By adopting this approach we can connect and extend long established lines of conceptual and empirical inquiry and thereby gain insights that may otherwise be overlooked or assumed This holds great promise for generating refining and testing theories of social justice in educational leadership and will help strengthen already vibrant lines of inquiry That is rather than citing a single or a few works out of their disciplinary context it might be more fruitful to situate educational leadership for social justice research in their respective traditions This could be carried out by extending extant lines of inquiry in educational leadership research and then incorporating lessons gleaned from this work into innovative practice For example why not more clearly establish lines of educational leadership and justice research into the Philosophy of Social Justice Economics of Social Justice Political Studies of Social Justice Sociology of Social Justice Anthropology of Social Justice and the Public Policy of Social Justice as focused and discrete areas of inquiry Once this new orientation toward the knowledge base of social justice and educational leadership is laid we might then seek to explore some of the natural connections between traditions before ultimately investigating justice in educational leadership through a free association of ideas as the worlds of practice and research co construct a new language they can use to discuss educational leadership Such an endeavor may demand reconceptualization of both the processes and products of collaborative research and the communication of findings but it will demand a breaking down of methodological and epistemological biases and a more meaningful level and type of engagement between primary and applied knowledge bases
