Wintergerst, Joe McVeigh, 2011 Tips for Teaching Culture provides research and practical techniques for teaching intercultural communication Topics include language nonverbal communication identity culture shock cross cultural adjustment traditional ways of teaching culture and social responsibility The Cross-Cultural Communication Trainer's Manual John Cutler, 2018-06-13 The global market means that many organizations now have offices affiliates suppliers call centres clients and customers in a wide range of countries and cultures Employees at a variety of levels are expected to have as good skills in cross cultural working as in any other key competency The Cross Cultural Communication Trainer s Manual provides a complete toolkit for the trainer facilitator needing to design and deliver cross or inter cultural training for both mono and multicultural audiences Volume One Designing Cross Cultural Training The first volume in this two volume set opens with an outline of useful information on cross cultural training content design and delivery This is followed by a series of readings that flesh out many of the concepts important for trainers and learners alike and provide important facts theory and practical background on an area in question They can be used as a basis for facilitator presentations or given to learners as reading exercises The manual concludes with 1 a series of action planning activities to help consolidate what learners have experienced and 2 evaluation forms for assessing and evaluating the effectiveness of any cross cultural training events The Appendix offers outline designs for seven half day one day and two day workshops using activities from Volume Two Activities for Cross Cultural Training along with a detailed bibliography Volume Two Activities for Cross Cultural Training With 80 activities covering skills such as understanding culture and differences stereotypes cultural self awareness cultural influences barriers to communication this varied and imaginative collection is a must have resource for anyone involved in cross or inter cultural training The collection concludes with a detailed bibliography of further reading and references Culture matters trainer's guide. , Offers additional information on using the Culture Matters Workbook The Guide includes approximately 40 exercises from Culture Matters dealing with the most important concepts in the book and presents them with extensive background delivery notes and lesson plans Organized into four parts Using Culture Matters in Pre Service Training Trainer Notes for Selected Exercises from Culture Matters Supplemental Group Exercises Additional Resources for Cross Cultural Trainers Acquiring Intercultural Communicative Competence from Textbooks Lies Sercu, 2000 This book investigates whether and to what extent foreign language textbooks can contribute to promoting adolescent pupils acquisition of intercultural communicative competence It gives a full scientific account of a research project carried out amongst Flemish learners of German. The focus of the research was on the relationships between the culture teaching approaches adopted in textbooks and the pupils' learning of culture. Although the sub title refers to a particular group of pupils learning a particular language the study has more general bearing and constitutes a substantial contribution to the literature and in particular empirical research on the development of intercultural competence in and through foreign language education. The composition of the volume reflects the affective, cognitive and contact dimensions of the culture learning process. It also gives space to the theoretical platform on which the research was built and to the research methodology adopted. Chapter 1 sets out to contextualise and define the research topic. It clarifies the study's position within the field of culture and language learning and teaching theory, practice and research. It also situates the investigation into the specific context of teaching and learning foreign languages and cultures in Flanders. In chapter 2 the theoretical framework informing the study is developed. Chapter 3 provides an overview of the techniques of data collection and analysis employed, of the kinds of data collected and of the chronology of data collection. Chapters 4, 5 and 6 provide an interpretative description and analysis of the investigation's key concepts. Chapters 4 and 5 focus on the pupils' culture learning processes and analyse relationships between attitude, contact and perception data. In chapter 6 the culture teaching approaches adopted in the investigated textbook series are described and evaluated with regard to their potential for promoting the pupils' learning of culture. Chapter 7 finally provides a summary overview of the study's main findings and presents the main conclusions that can be drawn from the evidence presented in earlier chapters. It estimates the value of the study's research methodology and theoretical framework. It also reflects on how the research findings can find application and implementation.

Handbook of Cross-cultural Psychology: Social behavior and applications John W. Berry, Ype H. Poortinga, Janak Pandey, 1997. Presenting the human relations in a cultural context, this book explores various social psychology concepts and applied topics in the light of cross cultural research. It also features the developments in the field as well as diversity in the cultural and theoretical backgrounds of the editors and chapter authors.

Gestión de conflictos Deborah Borisoff, David A. Victor, 1989. Children's Literature as Communication Roger D. Sell, 2002-10-10. In this book members of the ChiLPA Project explore the children's literature of several different cultures ranging from ancient India, nineteenth century Russia and the Soviet Union to twentieth century Britain, America, Australia, Sweden and Finland. The research covers not only the form and content of books for children but also their potential social functions especially within education. These two perspectives are brought together within a theory of children's literature as one among other forms of communication, an approach that sees the role of literary scholars, critics and teachers as one of mediation. Part I deals with the way children's writers and picturebook makers draw on a culture's available resources of orality, literacy, intertextuality and image. Part II examines their negotiation of major issues such as the child/adult distinction, gender, politics and the Holocaust. Part III discusses children's books as used within language education programmes with particular attention to young readers pragmatic processing of differences between the context of writing and their own context of reading
