Desert Cities Michael F. Logan,2012-01-12 Phoenix is known as the Valley of the Sun while Tucson is referred to as The Old Pueblo These nicknames epitomize the difference in the public s perception of each city Phoenix continues to sprawl as one of America s largest and fastest growing cities Tucson has witnessed a slower rate of growth and has only one quarter of Phoenix s population This was not always the case Prior to 1920 Tucson had a larger population How did two cities with such close physical proximity and similar natural environments develop so differently Desert Cities examines the environmental circumstances that led to the starkly divergent growth of these two cities Michael Logan traces this significant imbalance to two main factors water resources and cultural differences Both cities began as agricultural communities Phoenix had the advantage of a larger water supply the Salt River which has four and one half times the volume of Tucson s Santa Cruz River Because Phoenix had a larger river it received federal assistance in the early twentieth century for the Salt River project which provided water storage facilities Tucson received no federal aid Moreover a significant cultural difference existed Tucson though it became a U S possession in 1853 always had a sizable Hispanic population Phoenix was settled in the 1870s by Anglo pioneers who brought their visions of landscape development and commerce with them By examining the factors of watershed culture ethnicity terrain political favoritism economic development and history Desert Cities offers a comprehensive evaluation that illuminates the causes of growth disparity in two major southwestern cities and provides a model for the study of bi city resource competition
