Teaching And Learning:

Teaching and Learning in the Digital Age Louise Starkey, 2012 Teaching and Learning in the Digital Age is for all those interested in considering the impact of emerging digital technologies on teaching and learning. It explores the concept of a digital age and perspectives of knowledge pedagogy and practice within a digital context. By examining teaching with digital technologies through new learning theories cognisant of the digital age, it aims to both advance thinking and offer strategies for teaching technology savvy students that will enable meaningful learning experiences. Illustrated throughout with case studies from across the subjects and the age range, key issues considered include how young people create and share knowledge both in and beyond the classroom and how current and new pedagogies can support this level of achievement. The use of complexity theory as a framework to explore teaching in the digital age, the way learning occurs, one way exchanges online and face to face interactions, learning within a framework of constructivism and in communities, what we mean by critical thinking, why it is important in a digital age and how this can occur in the context of learning, how students can create knowledge through a variety of teaching and learning activities and how the knowledge being created can be shared, critiqued and evaluated. With an emphasis throughout on what it means for practice, this book aims to improve understanding of how learning theories currently work and can evolve in the future to promote truly effective learning in the digital age. It is essential reading for all teachers, student teachers, school leaders, those engaged in Masters Level work as well as students on Education Studies courses.

Contextual Teaching and Learning Elaine B. Johnson, 2002 Contextual teaching and learning CTL is a system for teaching that is grounded in brain research. Brain research indicates that we learn best when we see meaning in new tasks and material and we discover meaning when we are able to connect new information with our existing knowledge and experiences. Students learn best according to neuroscience when they can connect the content of academic lessons with the context of their own daily lives. Johnson discusses the elements of the brain compatible contextual teaching and learning system, making meaningful connections, investing school work with significance, self-regulated learning, collaboration, critical and creative thinking, nurturing the individual, reaching high standards and using authentic assessment. Drawing on the practices of teachers in kindergarten through university, Johnson provides numerous examples of how to use each part of the CTL system.

On Teaching and Learning Jane Vella, 2014-07-17 On Teaching and Learning takes the ideas explored in renowned educator Jane Vella's best-selling book Learning to Listen. Learning to Teach to the next level and explores how dialogue education has been applied in educational settings around the world. Throughout the book, she shows how to put the principles and practices of dialogue education into action and uses illustrative stories and examples from her extensive travels. Dialogue education values inquiry, integrity, and commitment to equity values that are also central to democracy. Learners are treated as beings worthy of respect, recognized for the knowledge and experience they bring to the learning experience. Dialogue education emphasizes the importance of safety and belonging. It is
