Original peer reviewed contributions from recognized and established scholars and practitioners offer a variety of perspectives on teaching English as a second or foreign language and an expanded focus on teaching in international contexts The authors challenge several current practices from multiple viewpoints and offer innovations that are thoughtful and engaging Definitely we must build on our past and present knowledge of what works to refine and improve existing language teaching practices and it is hoped develop other practices that will be even better and more encompassing Thus Chapter 1 reports the launch of a newly designed problem based learning program in which metacognitive strategy instruction is integrated into an English listening curriculum It combines the Problem Based Learning approach from education and the Metacognitive approach from second language listening research The author does a good job at the end to try to disentangle the effects of the two treatments This is an exciting time to be teaching English as a second or foreign language In many countries children are starting to learn English at an ever younger age Chapter 2 provides a meta analysis of the situation currently observed in many English as a foreign language classes given to Polish and Slovak preschool learners among others It covers not only an analysis of a number of currently observed approaches but also presents research based propositions Also it suggests a handful of problem grounded outcomes We cannot be satisfied with the in progress state of affairs but must seek out new ways to provide learners with the most effective and efficient language learning experiences possible taking into account the learners goals interests and learning contexts Chapter 3 concerns the attitudes of Polish English language majors to their target language cultural learning Though Chapter 3 leaves us with many questions unanswered it sheds the light on the teaching of cultural elements particularly in a European context Finally Chapter 4 offers a unique perspective on language instruction particularly for audiences unfamiliar with Buddhist philosophy Basically it describes a teaching approach based on Buddhist philosophy which would probably be very effective for someone familiar and or interested in that particular school of thought Alternatively it would open readers mind to a completely different approach to language instruction which may or may not work outside of its current context but at least it has a very clear philosophical foundation and very clear set of procedures that are worth examining further The intended audience are all those who are interested in teaching English as second or foreign language including researchers methodologists curriculum and materials designers teachers and undergraduate and graduate students Teaching English as a Second Language New York (State).
