Southeast Asia China The End Of Containment:

Southeast Asia And China Edwin W. Martin, 2019-07-11 Since the end of the war in Vietnam and the withdrawal of the American presence there a marked realignment of power has taken place in Southeast Asia The old rivalry between China and the United States has become a relationship of cautious rapprochement while Sino Soviet competition has been intensified by China's fear that the USSR will move to fill the power vacuum created by the U S departure The United States no longer perceives a friendly Sino Southeast Asian relationship to be as much of a danger to its security interests as it once did but how that relationship develops remains of considerable importance to this country In this book Edwin Martin examines some of the principal factors in China's current relations with the Southeast Asian countries China's domestic policies Peking oriented insurgency in Southeast Asian countries the Overseas Chinese trade considerations the policies of third powers and concludes that the newly emergent nationalism in Southeast Asia coupled with Sino Soviet rivalry indeed diminishes the threat posed by a Communist Indochina and calls for a U S policy of encouraging stable relations in the area both among the countries themselves and between them and the PRC He asserts that a four way balance of power involving the United States the USSR the PRC and Japan will prevent a power vacuum in the area and will allow the Southeast Asian countries to develop their own strengths both political and economic It is thus to the advantage of the United States to encourage all steps toward regional cooperation U S policy Professor Martin concludes should neither abandon Southeast Asia nor attempt to dictate to it

China-Malaysia Relations and Foreign Policy Razak Abdullah, 2015-08-11 When Malaysian Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak Hussein paid an official visit to China in May 1974 it secured Malaysia a place in the annals of regional diplomatic history as the first ASEAN country to establish full diplomatic relations with the People's Republic of China This book analyses the process of the establishment of diplomatic relations between Malaysia and China and provides a detailed explanation and understanding of the decision making process in Malaysia Shedding light on the roles played by the various principal actors in the process of foreign policy formulation and the influences both internal and external that shaped Malaysia's behaviour the book highlights why Malaysia decided to pursue a policy of normalisation with China culminating in the visit in 1974 and in particular why it became the first ASEAN country to establish diplomatic relations with the Chinese After Malaysia's recognition of Beijing two other ASEAN states followed suit namely Thailand and the Philippines and the book discusses whether there was some degree of policy coordination amongst ASEAN countries in dealing with China or if both these countries gave way for Malaysia to be the first The book also looks at the policy debates within some ASEAN countries regarding relations with China either conducted officially or unofficially bilaterally or otherwise This book will be of interest to scholars of Asian Politics Asian History International Relations and Foreign Policy
