Southeast Asia In The Age Of Commerce 1450 1680 Volume One The Lands Below:

The Borderlands of Southeast Asia James Clad, Sean M. McDonald, Bruce Vaughn, 2011 As an academic field in its own right the topic of border studies is experiencing a revival in university geography courses as well as in wider political commentary Until recently border studies in contemporary Southeast Asia appeared as an afterthought at best to the politics of interstate rivalry and national consolidation The maps set out all agreed postcolonial lines Meanwhile the physical demarcation of these boundaries lagged Large slices of territory on land and at sea eluded definition or delineation That comforting ambiguity has disappeared Both evolving technologies and price levels enable rapid resource extraction in places and in volumes once scarcely imaginable The beginning of the 21st century's second decade is witnessing an intensifying diplomacy both state to state and commercial over offshore petroleum In particular the South China Sea has moved from being a rather arcane area of conflict studies to the status of a bellwether issue Along with other contested areas in the western Pacific and south Asia the problem increasingly defines China's regional relationships in Asia and with powers outside the region especially the United States Yet intraregional territorial differences also hobble multilateral diplomacy to counter Chinese claims and daily management of borders remains burdened by a lot of retrospective baggage The contributors to this book emphasize this mix of heritage and history as the primary leitmotif for contemporary border rivalries and dynamics Whether the region's 11 states want it or not their bordered identity is falling into ever sharper definition if only because of pressure from extraregional states This book aims to provide new ways of looking at the reality and illusion of bordered Southeast Asia

Ancient Southeast Asia John Norman Miksic, Goh Geok Yian, 2016-10-14 Ancient Southeast Asia provides readers with a much needed synthesis of the latest discoveries and research in the archaeology of the region presenting the evolution of complex societies in Southeast Asia from the protohistoric period beginning around 500BC to the arrival of British and Dutch colonists in 1600 Well illustrated throughout this comprehensive account explores the factors which established Southeast Asia as an area of unique cultural fusion Miksic and Goh explore how the local population exploited the abundant resources available developing maritime transport routes which resulted in economic and cultural wealth including some of the most elaborate art styles and monumental complexes ever constructed The book's broad geographical and temporal coverage including a chapter on the natural environment provides readers with the context needed to understand this staggeringly diverse region It utilizes French Dutch Chinese Malay Indonesian and Burmese sources and synthesizes interdisciplinary theoretical perspectives and data from archaeology history and art history Offering key opportunities for comparative research with other centres of early socio economic complexity Ancient Southeast Asia establishes the area's importance in world history

Singapore and the Silk Road of the Sea, 1300_1800 John N. Miksic, 2013-09-30 Beneath the modern skyscrapers of Singapore lie the remains of a much older trading port prosperous and cosmopolitan and a key node in the maritime Silk Road This book synthesizes 25 years of archaeological research to reconstruct the 14th century port of Singapore in greater detail than is possible for any other early Southeast Asian city The picture that emerges is of a port where people processed raw materials used money and had specialized occupations Within its defensive wall the city was well organized and prosperous with a cosmopolitan population that included residents from China other parts of Southeast Asia and the Indian Ocean Fully illustrated with more than 300 maps and colour photos Singapore and the Silk Road of the Sea presents Singapore's history in the context of Asia's long distance maritime trade in the years between 1300 and 1800 it amounts to a dramatic new understanding of Singapore's pre colonial past Singapore Michael D.

Barr,2018-12-13 Singapore gained independence in 1965 a city state in a world of nation states Yet its long and complex history reaches much farther back Blending modernity and tradition ideologies and ethnicities a peculiar set of factors make Singapore what it is today In this thematic study of the island nation Michael D Barr proposes a new approach to understand this development From the pre colonial period through to the modern day he traces the idea the politics and the geography of Singapore over five centuries of rich history In doing so he rejects the official narrative of the so called Singapore Story Drawing on in depth archival work and oral histories Singapore A Modern History is a work both for students of the country's history and politics but also for any reader seeking to engage with this enigmatic and vastly successful nation East and

Southeast Asia 2024-2025 James E. This book presents and analyses the oldest sub national war of postcolonial South Asia between the Indian state and the Nagas of Northeast India It offers a serious and thorough political history on the Naga region over three periods pre colonial colonial and post colonial Drawing on a wealth of primary sources and comparative and theoretical literature Marcus Franke demonstrates that agency and identity formation are an on going process that neither started nor ended with colonialism Although the interaction of the local population with colonialism produced a Naga national lite it was the emergence of the Indian political class with access to superior means of nation and state building that was able to undertake the modern Indo Naga war This war firmly made the Nagas into a nation and that set them onto the road to independence War and Nationalism in South Asia fundamentally revises our understanding of the existing histories of the Nagas by exposing them to be influenced by colonial or post colonial narratives of domination Furthermore by placing the region into the longue dur e of state formation with its involved technique of imperial rule the book presents a new approach to the study of nationalism and war in South Asia in general This book will be of interest to students and scholars of politics history anthropology and South Asian studies Imperial China and Its Southern Neighbours Victor H Mair,2016-04-29 At a time when China Southeast Asia relationships are undergoing profound changes it is pleasing to have a volume which examines the interactions between China and the polities and societies to the south through time With multiple aims of exploring the relations between northern Chinese cultures and those of the south examining the cultural plurality of areas which are today parts of Southern China and illuminating the relations between Sinitic and non Sinitic societies the volume is broad in concept and content Within these extensive rubrics this edited collection further interrogates the nature of Asian politics and their historiography the constitution of Chineseness imperial China's southern expansions cultural hybridity economic relations regional systems and ethnic interactions across East Asia The editors Victor H Mair and Liam C Kelley are to be congratulated for bringing together such a wealth of contributions offering nascent interpretations and broad overviews set within the overarching historical and contemporary contexts provided through Wang Gungwu's introduction Dr Geoffrey Wade ANU College of Asia and the Pacific Australian National University

Tourism in Southeast Asia Michael Hitchcock, Victor T. King, Mike Parnwell, 2009 Tourism in Southeast Asia provides an up to date exploration of the state of tourism development and associated issues in one of the world's most dynamic tourism destinations The volume takes a close look at many of the challenges facing Southeast Asian tourism at a critical stage of transition and transformation and following a recent series of crises and disasters Building on and advancing the path breaking Tourism in South East Asia produced by the same editors in 1993 it adopts a multidisciplinary approach and includes contributions from some of the leading researchers on tourism in Southeast Asia presenting a number of fresh perspectives The volume combines introductory material with an in depth examination of anthropological writing on Southeast Asian tourism followed by case studies dealing with as diverse issues as globalization terrorism romance tourism and ecotourism

A Dragon's Head and a Serpent's Tail Kenneth M. Swope, 2013-04-29 The invasion of Korea by Japanese troops in May of 1592 was no ordinary military expedition it was one of the decisive events in Asian history and the most tragic for the Korean peninsula until the mid twentieth century Japanese overlord Toyotomi Hideyoshi envisioned conquering Korea Ming China and eventually all of Asia but Korea's appeal to China's Emperor Wanli for assistance triggered a six year war involving hundreds of thousands of soldiers and encompassing the whole region For Japan the war was a dragon's head followed by a serpent's tail an impressive beginning with no real ending Kenneth M Swope has undertaken the first full length scholarly study in English of this important conflict Drawing on Korean Japanese and especially Chinese sources he corrects the Japan centered perspective of previous accounts and depicts Wanli not as the self indulgent ruler of received interpretations but rather one actively engaged in military affairs and concerned especially with rescuing China's client state of Korea He puts the Ming in a more vigorous light detailing Chinese siege warfare the development and deployment of innovative military technologies and the naval battles that marked the climax of the war He also explains the war's repercussions outside the military sphere particularly the dynamics of intraregional diplomacy within the shadow of the Chinese tributary system What Swope calls the First Great East Asian War marked both the emergence of Japan's desire to extend its sphere of influence to the Chinese mainland and a military revival of China's commitment to defending its interests in Northeast Asia Swope's account offers new insight not only into the history of warfare in Asia but also into a conflict that reverberates in international relations to this day

Wallacea Sue O'Connor, Andrew McWilliam, Sally Brockwell, 2020-09-07 This volume presents ground breaking research on fortified sites in three parts of Wallacea by a highly regarded group of scholars from Australia Europe Southeast Asia and the United States In addition to surveying and dating defensive sites in often remote and difficult terrain the chapters provide an important and scholarly set of archaeological and ethnohistoric studies that investigate the origin of forts in Wallacea Socio political instability from climate events the materialisation of indigenous belief systems and the substantial impact of imperial expansion and European colonialism are examined and comprise a significant addition to our knowledge of conflict and warfare in an under studied part of the Indo Pacific The archaeological record for past conflict is frequently ambiguous and the contribution of warfare to social development is mired in debate and paradox Authors demonstrate that forts and other defensive constructions are costly and complicated structures that while designed and built to protect a community from a threat of imminent violence had and have complicated life histories as a result of their architectural permanence strategic locations and traditional cultural and political significance Understanding why conflict outbreaks like human colonisation often appear in the past as a punctuated event can best be approached through long term records of conflict and violence involving archaeology and allied historical disciplines as has been successfully done here The volume is essential reading for archaeologists cultural heritage managers and those with an interest in conflict studies Professor Geoffrey Clark College of Asia and the Pacific The Australian National University Canberra Asian Population History Ts'ui-jung Liu, James Lee, David Sven Reher, Osamu Saito, Wang Feng, 2001-05-10 The study of Asian historical demography has lagged behind that of its European and American counterparts for some time This volume serves to narrow the gap by drawing together material from scholars specializing in demography across the spectrum of Asian countries The collection divides into four parts and contains nineteen chapters covering issues on comparative perspective fertility disease and mortality and marriage and family The geographic coverage of the chapters is also wide extending from East Asia to South Asia with specific emphasis on Japan China Taiwan Indonesia India and Sri Lanka Authors focus on a whole range of social groups discussing how demographic issues affect and have affected both urban and rural dwellers from the seventeenth to the twentieth century This volume which is perhaps the first to bring together a number of in depth specialist studies on Asian population history should prove a useful and engaging tool for both students and academics in the fields of demography history and Asian studies Sexual Politics in Indonesia S. Wieringa, 2002-05-21 This book analyzes the interaction between nationalism feminism and socialism in Indonesia since the beginning of the twentieth century until the New Order State of President Suharto The focus is on the communist women s organization Gerwani which was by 1965 the largest communist women s organization in the non communist world Gerwani members combined feminist demands such as a reform of the marriage law with an insistence upon a political role for women The organization was destroyed in a campaign of sexual slander orchestrated by the military under General Suharto Hundreds of thousands of people were killed President Sukarno lost his power and General Suharto took over Asian Expansions Geoff Wade, 2014-10-17 Asia as we know it today is the product of a wide range of polity expansions over time Recognising the territorial expansions of Asian polities large and small through the last several millennia helps rectify the fallacy long held and deeply entrenched that Asian polities have been interested only in the control of populations not in expanding their command of territory In countering this misapprehension this book suggests that Asian polities have indeed been concerned with territorial control and expansion over time whether for political or strategic advantage trade purposes defence needs agricultural expansion or increased income through taxation The book explores the historical experiences of a set of polity expansions within Asia specifically in East and Southeast Asia and by examining the motivations mechanisms processes validations and limitations of these Asian territorial expansions reveals the diverse avenues by which Asian polities have grown The chapters draw on these historical examples to highlight the connections between Asian polity expansion and centralised political structures and this aids in a broader and more comprehensive understanding of Asian political practice both past and present Through these chapter studies and the integrative introduction the book interrogates key concepts such as imperialism and colonialism and the applicability and relevance of such terminology in Asian contexts both historical and contemporary Comparisons and contrasts with European historical expansions are also suggested This book will be welcomed by students and scholars of Asian history as well as by those with an interest in Asian interactions international relations polity expansion Asia Europe historical comparisons and globalisation Chapter 8 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Gateways Of Asia Frank Broeze, 2013-10-28 First Published in 1997 The dynamic role of port cities has been a major element in the thrust of modern port city literature since In the process interactions between history and other disciplines above all geography economics and town planning resulted in a growing number of collaborative volumes Indicative of the broad front multi disciplinary approach and challenging agenda of this wave of port town and port city studies is the collective and diverse nature of the themes and authorship of each of these works That very diversity of disciplines nationalities and perspectives is also one of the main pillars supporting Gateways of Asia It is not a repetition or summary of the introduction and first chapter of Brides of the Sea but the publication of this volume in many ways a sequel to that work does provide the opportunity of clarifying a few points and elaborating on some issues raised after its publication Art, Trade, and Cultural Mediation in Asia, 1600-1950 Raquel A. G. Reyes, 2018-12-12 This Palgrave Pivot explores the social and cultural impact of global trade at a micro level from around 1600 to 1950 Bringing together the collaborative skills of cultural social economic and art historians it examines how the diffusion of trade goods and objects affected people's everyday lives The authors tell several stories of the role played by a host of intermediaries such as apothecaries artisans and missionaries who facilitated the process of objects such as Japanese export lacquer ware and paintings of how diverse artistic influences came to be expressed in colonial church architecture in the Philippines of revolutionary changes wrought on quotidian tastes and preferences as shown in the interior decoration of private homes in the Dutch East Indies and of transformations in the smoking and drinking habits of Southeast Asians The chapters consider the conditions from which emerged new forms of artistic production and transfer fresh cultural interpretations and expanded markets for goods objects and images

Environment and Development in the Straits of Malacca Goh Kim Chuan, Mark Cleary, 2005-08-04 This unique study is the first in depth examination of the environment and development of the Straits Taking an integrative approach the book argues that the region has an underlying unity which political divisions between Malaysia Indonesia and Singapore disguise Its emphasis is on three major elements first a study of the historical geography of the region illustrates its role as a sea corridor which connected the markets of India and China Secondly that contemporary patterns of economic development and trade have continued to increase the strategic importance of the region Finally the text highlights the major environmental problems such as pollution traffic and tourism that now threaten the sea and coastline Official History in Modern Indonesia Michael Wood, 2005-08-01 Dealing with New Order perceptions of the past this study gives insights into how the past can be used for purposes of national building and regime legitimization and into the nature of the New Order The Suharto regime created a coherent history that is reflected in recent archaeological and historical research in popular histories and biographies in monuments and in school textbooks The author describes an official history stretching from the proto Indonesia of Majapahit through the Indonesian Revolution up to the birth of the New Order in 1965 He also gives a counterview to this history stressing Indonesia's place in the larger Islamic world The past emphasized political stability and national unity under the guidance of the military and socially disruptive ideas were to be avoided
