is an abbreviated history of south east Asia written with business readers in mind South-East Asia Charles Alfred Fisher,1966 The Modern Anthropology of South-East Asia Victor King,William D. Wilder,2020-09-10 This is a comprehensive introduction to the social and cultural anthropology of South East Asia It provides an overview of the major theoretical issues and themes which have emerged from the engagement of anthropologists with South East Asian communities a succinct historical survey and analysis of the peoples and cultures of the region Most importantly the volume reveals the vitally important role which the study of the area has occupied in the development of the concepts and methods of anthropology from the perspectives of Edmund Leach to Clifford Geertz Maurice Freedman to Claude Levi Strauss Lauriston Sharp to Melford Spiro Environmental Change in South-East Asia Mike Parnwell,Raymond L. Bryant,1996 Environmental Change in South East Asia brings together scholars journalists consultants and NGO activists to explore the interaction of people politics and ecology Ostensibly green activities plantation forestry eco tourism hydro electricity are revealed as guises used by elites to promote their own political and economic interests Highlighting fatal flaws in presently exclusive economic and ecological approaches the authors stress that neither the quest for sustainable development nor the process of environmental change itself can be understood without reference to political processes An Atlas and Survey of South Asian History Karl J. Schmidt, Environmental Challenges in South-East Asia Victor T. King,2013-01-11 This volume discusses environmental change natural resource exploitation and the prospect for ecological sustainability in Southeast Asia The contributors including sociologists geographers anthropologists economists political economists and historians presents the findings of recent archival and field research mainly from ongoing programmes of team research based in European universities and institutes Among the themes discussed are European and indigenous perceptions of the environment historical processes of environmental change the politics of resource use ecotourism and development deforestation and smallholding land use strategies migration and environmental degradation disease environment and human geography demography sustainability and resource exploitation China, the United States, and South-East Asia Sheldon W. Simon,Evelyn Goh,2007-08-09 This volume with its wide range of perspectives makes a valuable contribution to the ongoing policy and academic dialogue on a rising China It examines a range of perspectives on the nature of China s rise and its implications for Southeast Asian states as well as US interests in the region Higher Education Challenges in South-East Asia Kahl, Christian,2020-10-23 Over the last decade many local students have preferred to study overseas This has caused governments to announce the creation of programs and developments in the higher education sector to upgrade South East Asia to a leading education hub Moreover many governments declared that they would work on the insurance of learning to increase the quality of the degrees and the teaching itself This has led many to question the results of these declarations Higher Education Challenges in South East Asia provides an overview of what has been happening over the last ten years in higher education in South East Asia It also works to solve the challenges in modern education such as the impacts of digitalization globalization and Generation Y and Z learning styles Covering topics that include globalization educational technologies and comparative teaching this book impacts academic institutions policymakers government officials university and college administrators and leaders academicians researchers and students The International Geography Hugh Robert Mill,1899 Navies of South-East Asia James Goldrick,Jack McCaffrie,2012-09-10 This book provides a comprehensive survey of the development and operations of the navies of South East Asia since the end of World War II The navies of South East Asia have rarely been the subject of systematic attention but as the maritime strategic balance within Asia becomes more complex and open to challenge through the rise of China they will play increasingly significant roles While most have had only limited strength in the past the majority are acquiring new capabilities notably submarines which will profoundly alter their ability to influence events This volume outlines the difficulties that each navy has faced in developing capability in competition not only with local armies and air forces but with other national requirements The authors analyse the way in which each has been shaped by history and by changing maritime strategic concepts particularly through developments such as the 1982 Law of the Sea Convention Drawing upon this contextual information the book goes on to examine how the navies are likely to develop in the future what new challenges they will face and the nature of the roles they will play within a region of increasing global strategic significance This book will be of much interest to students of naval policy SE Asian politics regional security strategic studies and IR in general Naval Modernisation in South-East Asia Geoffrey Till,Jane Chan,2013-08-15 This edited volume analyses the naval arms race in South East Asia and reviews the content purposes and consequences of the naval policies and development of the main countries of the region The rise of naval capability in the countries of the Asia Pacific Region is increasingly recognised as a major indicator of the rise of Asia and its increasing importance in the world s political economic and strategic future Most coverage focusses solely on the navies of the big four the US China India and Japan however the region s other navies though much smaller are significant too Given the current focus on the South China Sea and the Obama administration s pivot to Asia naval development in South East Asia is of particular relevance This book first identifies the issues involved in defence acquisition in this area It then goes on to establish some templates of naval modernisation as a means of assessing the policies of individual countries in the region by looking at the naval policies of the big four Finally the general issue of naval modernisation in South East Asia is illustrated through a more detailed examination of some of the major issues common to all countries of the area These include the defence industrial perspective specific examinations of submarine and surface ship acquisition processes and a review of the balance to be struck between naval and coastguard forces in the area This book will be of much interest to students of naval power maritime security South East Asian politics strategic studies and IR in general Britain and Regional Cooperation in South-East Asia, 1945-49 Tilman Remme,2015-04-10 This book first published in 1995 traces the attempt by the British Foreign Office to establish an international regional organisation in South East Asia which would allow Britain to dominate the region politically economically and militarily The author explores the changing emphasis of Britain's regional policies and puts the issues affecting South East Asia in the post War period into a wide context He explores events in the light of the Japanese defeat in the Second World War the Communist struggle for supremacy of China the development of Anglo American relations in Asia and the beginnings of the Cold War

Tourism in South-East Asia Michael Hitchcock, Victor T. King, Michael J.G. Parnwell, 2018-10-26 South East Asia has developed rapidly as a tourist destination but what are the effects of this growth upon the peoples of the region How far is it possible to control the impact of tourism whilst also supporting the industry's role in the region's development This book first published in 1993 attempts to answer these questions by providing a critical analysis of the nature of tourism as it has developed in the area It questions commonly held assumptions about tourism both from a western perspective and from the point of view of policy makers in the region It explores central issues such as the impact of tourism on the environment culture and the economy placing it within an historical and political context in order to assess the implications of current developments The contributors use case studies from a variety of countries on such aspects as the sex industry dream holidays and rural handicrafts assessing tourist perceptions both domestic and international and policy decisions By taking a long term perspective it should provoke thought on the ways to develop sustainable tourism for the future

Islamic Banking & Finance in South-East Asia Angelo M. Venardos, 2012 Islamic Banking and Finance in South East Asia by Angelo M Venardos has been a must read since its first edition in 2005 and has already been translated to Arabic Now in its 3rd edition the book offers important updates you can look forward to starting with the foundations of Islamic banking developments and issues The reader is then treated to a timely survey of Islamic banking in five South east Asian countries Most of these chapters have been completely revamped from the last edition One additional chapter has been added on Islamic Succession Planning which introduces an increasingly essential aspect of Muslim life that of managing one's wealth now and in the afterlife Whether you are new to the topic or a practitioner in the industry you will appreciate the accessible way in which the book is written According to the Asian Journal of Comparative Law the book gives a broad overview yet manages to achieve this in a rather slim volume while providing depth of analysis at the same time
