South to the Future Fred C. Hobson, 2002 Until recently the American South has often been treated in isolation by historians and literary critics In these essays five scholars of southern history and literature evaluate elements of contemporary and future southern experience including place community culture class gender and racial roles Fred Hobson observes in his introductory essay that the U S South must be seen in relation to a larger world the Caribbean and Central and South America as well as European countries with a similar grounding in hardship and defeat Moreover the South can no longer be viewed in black and white terms especially if the subject is race Joel Williamson s essay challenges fellow historians to broaden their purview by getting acquainted with Gone with the Wind Elvis Presley and other phenomena of southern culture s Linda Wagner Martin discusses the innovative ways in which contemporary southern writers such as Charles Frazier take on traditional southern concerns and shows us how place becomes space for Alice Walker Barbara Kingsolver Cormac McCarthy and other southern born writers whose works are often set outside the geographical South Thadious Davis looks at the youngsters of southern poetry fiction and drama revealing how their work reflects a racially and ethnically mixed digitized and otherwise reconfigured South In the writings of Shay Youngblood Randall Kenan Donna Tartt Mona Lisa Salloy and others one can see the collapsing of distinctions between the literary and the popular and a greater comfort with social fluidity and mobility The concluding essay by Edward Ayers set in 2076 offers a witty glimpse of things perhaps to come Through a series of short dispatches from a sixteen year old narrator of Scottish Ghanian Honduran Korean Cherokee descent Ayers transports us to the Consolidated South that counts Incarceration Incorporated among its largest employers As these writings signal new depths and directions in southern historical and literary studies they compose a witty and erudite album of snapshots revealing a region on the verge of big changes

Desire, Violence, and Divinity in Modern Southern Fiction Gary M. Ciuba, 2011-02-04 In this groundbreaking study Gary M Ciuba examines how four of the South s most probing writers of twentieth century fiction Katherine Anne Porter Flannery O Connor Cormac McCarthy and Walker Percy expose the roots of violence in southern culture Ciuba draws on the paradigm of mimetic violence developed by cultural and literary critic Ren Girard who maintains that individual human nature is shaped by the desire to imitate a model Mimetic desire may lead in turn to rivalry cruelty and ultimately community sanctioned and sometimes ritually sanctified victimization of those deemed outcasts Ciuba offers an impressively broad intellectual discussion that gives universal cultural meaning to the southern experience of desire violence and divinity with which these four authors wrestled and out of which they wrote In a comprehensive analysis of Porter s semiautobiographical Miranda stories Ciuba focuses on the prescribed role of women that Miranda imitates and ultimately escapes O Connor s The Violent Bear It Away reveals three characters whose scandalous animosity caused by religious rivalry leads to the unbearable stumbling block of violence McCarthy s protagonist in Child of God Lester Ballard appears as the culmination of a long tradition of the sacred violence of southern religion twisted into his own bloody faith And Percy s The Thanatos Syndrome brings Ciuba s discussion back to the victim in Tom Moore s renunciation of a society in which scapegoating threatens to become the foundation of a new social regime From nostalgia for the old order to visions of a utopian tomorrow these authors have imagined the interrelationship of desire antagonism and religion throughout southern history Ciuba s insights offer new ways of reading Porter O Connor McCarthy and Percy as well as their contemporaries who inhabited the same culture of violence violence desired dreaded denied and deified

After Southern Modernism Matthew Guinn, 2011-06-14 The literature of the contemporary South might best be understood for its discontinuity with the literary past At odds with traditions of the Southern Renaissance southern literature of today sharply refutes the Nashville Agrarians and shares few of Faulkner's and Welty's concerns about place community and history This sweeping study of the literary South's new direction focuses on nine well established writers who by breaking away from the firmly ensconced myths have emerged as an iconoclastic generation Harry Crews Dorothy Allison Bobbie Ann Mason Larry Brown Kaye Gibbons Randall Kenan Richard Ford Cormac McCarthy and Barry Hannah Resisting the modernist methods of the past they have established their own postmodern ground beyond the shadow of their predecessors This shift in authorial perspective is a significant indicator of the future of southern writing Crews's seminal role as a ground breaking poor white author Mason's and Crews's portrayals of rural life and Allison's and Brown's frank portrayals of the lower class pose a challenge to traditional depictions of the South The dissenting voices of Gibbons and Kenan who focus on gender race and sexuality create fiction that is at once identifiably southern and also distinctly subversive Gibbons's iconoclastic stance toward patriarchy like the outsider's critique of community found in Kenan's work proffers a portrait of the South unprecedented in the region's literature Ford McCarthy and Hannah each approach the South's traditional notions of history and community with new irreverence and treat familiar southern topics in a distinctly postmodern manner Whether through Ford's generic consumer landscape the haunted netherworld of McCarthy's southern novels or Hannah's riotous burlesque of the Civil War these authors assail the philosophical and cultural foundations from which the Southern Renaissance arose Challenging the conventional conceptions of the southern canon this is a provocative and innovative contribution to the region's literary study

The World Is Our Home Jeffrey J. Folks, Nancy Summers Folks, 2021-10-21 Since the early 1970s southern fiction has been increasingly attentive to social issues including the continuing struggles for racial justice and gender equality the loss of a sense of social community and the decline of a coherent regional identity The essays in The World Is Our Home focus on writers who have explicitly addressed social and cultural issues in their fiction and drama including Dorothy Allison Horton Foote Ernest J Gaines Jill McCorkle Walker Percy Lee Smith William Styron Alice Walker and many others The contributors provide valuable insights into the transformation of southern culture over the past thirty years and probe the social and cultural divisions that persist The collection makes an important case for the centrality of social critique in contemporary southern fiction

David Madden Randy Hendricks, James A. Perkins, 2006 For four decades Knoxville Tennessee native David Madden has been writing compelling bestsellers such as Bijou and The Suicide's Wife as well as highly respected literary novels such as Sharpshooter David Madden A Writer for All Genres is the first full length critical work devoted to the whole of Madden's oeuvre and collectively the essays make the case that the attention paid to Madden's novels has overshadowed his innovative work as a critic poet short story writer and dramatist Madden is indeed a writer for all genres poetry fiction drama and criticism David Madden A Writer for all Genres will introduce a new generation of readers to an important and multitalented writer and begin a well deserved serious discussion of his place in the American literary tradition The Postsouthern Sense of Place in Contemporary Fiction Martyn Bone, 2014-01-13 For generations southern novelists and critics have grappled with a concept that is widely seen as a trademark of their literature a strong attachment to geography or a sense of place In the 1930s the Agrarians accorded special meaning to rural life particularly the farm in their definitions of southern identity For them the South seemed an organic and rooted region in contrast to the North where real estate development and urban sprawl evoked a faceless raw capitalism By the end of the twentieth century however economic and social forces had converged to create a modernized South How have writers responded to this phenomenon Is there still a sense of place in the South or perhaps a distinctly postsouthern sense of place Martyn Bone innovatively draws upon postmodern thinking to consider the various perspectives that southern writers have brought to the concept of place and to look at its fate in a national and global context He begins with a revisionist assessment of the Agrarians who failed in their attempts to turn their proprietary ideal of the small farm into actual policy but whose broader rural aesthetic lived on in the work of neo Agrarian writers including William Faulkner and Eudora Welty By the 1950s adherence to this aesthetic was causing southern writers and critics to lose sight of the social reality of a changing South Bone turns to more recent works that do respond to the impact of capitalist spatial development on the South and on the nation generally including that self declared international city Atlanta Close readings of novels by Robert Penn Warren Walker Percy Richard Ford Anne Rivers Siddons Tom Wolfe and Toni Cade Bambara illuminate evolving ideas about capital land labor and class while introducing southern literary studies into wider debates around social cultural and literary geography Bone concludes his remarkably rich book by considering works of Harry Crews and Barbara Kingsolver that suggest the southern sense of place may be not only post Agrarian or postsouthern but also transnational
