New Dimensions in International Security International Institute for Strategic Studies, 1992 Soviet Attitudes Towards Ballistic Missile Defence and the ABM Treaty Jeanette Boas, 2006-04-01 Soviet Attitudes Towards Ballistic Missile Defence and the ABM Treaty Jeanette Voas, 1990 The ABM Treaty Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, 1987 Among the measures employed to stabilize the strategic relationship between the East and West in the nuclear age the 1972 Anti Ballistic Missile ABM Treaty is of profound importance This cooperative agreement to limit offensive and defensive strategic forces has recently been challenged by the allure of new technology including the proposed Space based Defense System Coinciding with the third ABM Treaty Review Conference this study by an international roster of renowned scholars and policymakers including two negotiators of the 1972 Treaty provides insight into the complexities of the issues involved and identifies possible solutions Concise timely and well balanced this collection is an important contribution to the debates surrounding the future of international peace and security Soviet Attitudes Towards Ballistic Missile and the ABM Treaty Jeannette Voas, International Institute for Strategic Studies, 1990 The Soviet Union And Ballistic Missile Defense Bruce Parrott, Helmut Sonnenfeldt, 2020-01-09 Originally published in 1987 In the debate over strategic defense the Soviet dimension has not been adequately examined Dr Parrott's multifaceted discussion of the Soviet approach to ballistic missile defense BMD admirably fills that gap Based on an analysis of Soviet statements and Soviet weaponry the study surveys Soviet perceptions of the shifting relationship between the superpowers and the effect of BMD on that relationship The author then traces the evolution of Soviet policies toward ballistic missile defense and the introduction of weapons into space After exploring the internal budgetary debates that will affect future Soviet decisions on BMD and space systems the book outlines Soviet responses political as well as military to the Strategic Defense Initiative and concludes with recommendations for U S policy toward BMD and arms negotiations Soviet Ballistic Missile Defense and the Western Alliance David Scott Yost, 1988 Yost suggests that the challenges for Western policy posed by Soviet ballistic missile defense BMD programs stem partly from Soviet military programs Soviet arms control policies and Soviet public diplomacy campaigns and partly from the West s own intra alliance disagreements and lack of consensus about Western security requirements Ballistic Missile Defence Donald G. Longstreth, 1985 ABM Treaty and U.S. Ballistic Missile Defense United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Foreign Relations, 1997 Current Soviet Views of Ballistic Missile Defenses, 1991 Recently a series of articles appeared in the Soviet press discussing new and in some cases radical proposals for changing the structure mission and forces of Soviet strategic defenses including ballistic missile defense BMD Because of the potential impact of the Soviet position on BMD on the Strategic Defense Initiative program the Strategic Red Team analyzed this discussion in light of traditional Soviet military thought and the on going debate over defense sufficiency Conclusion None of the proposed alternatives to official policy regarding BMD that are being debated in the USSR has garnered sufficient authoritative support to have caused an identifiable shift in Soviet policy Based on the majority of recent articles and some statements by officials it appears that if the Soviets decide to move toward expanded BMD capabilities their preference will be for revision of the ABM Treaty to permit additional BMD sites and ground based interceptors The extent to which additional defensive capabilities and characteristics such as space basing might ultimately be negotiable cannot be determined from available evidence The Russian Nuclear Shield from Stalin to Yeltsin J. Mathers, 2000-08-09 This book makes extensive use of Soviet sources to provide the first full analysis of Moscow's ballistic missile defence policy from its origins to the most recent post Soviet developments It considers the Soviets motivations for pursuing an anti ballistic missile capability and the extent of their success and reveals that ballistic missile defence policy was used by every political leadership from Krushchev to Yeltsin as a means of sending signals about Moscow s intentions to the West Treaty on Limitation of Anti-ballistic-missile Systems United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Foreign Relations, 1972 New Weapon Technologies & the ABM Treaty Herbert Lin, 1988 The Anti Ballistic Missile ABM Treaty of 1972 is regarded as the most important arms control agreement currently in force between the United States and the Soviet Union Lin identifies the key technical issues being encountered by the ABM Treaty and shows how new weapon technologies not widely anticipated in 1972 may erode the treaty regime He focuses on emerging technologies such as lasers and particle beams and dual capable technologies that include antisatellite weapons anti tactical ballistic missiles and surface to air missiles. He also suggests that both governments must address issues that can exploit weaknesses of the treaty in order to keep it alive ISBN 0 08 035964 7  $\,$  pbk 9 90
