Symbol Ceremony Making Disciples Acrob Cultures:

Symbol and Ceremony A. H. Mathias Zahniser, 1997 Teaching and Learning across Cultures Craig Ott, 2021-06-15

Representing the fruit of a lifetime of reflection and practice this comprehensive resource helps teachers understand the way people in different cultures learn so they can adapt their teaching for maximum effectiveness Senior missiologist and educator Craig Ott draws on extensive research and cross cultural experience from around the world This book introduces students to current theories and best practices for teaching and learning across cultures Case studies illustrations diagrams and sidebars help the theories of the book come to life The Great CoMission Brooks St. Clair Morton, 2012-11-02 This book presupposes that pastors and seminarians deeply desire to answer the question of all questions how do I make disciples of Jesus Christ The Great CoMission Making Sense of Making Disciples is a helpful guide for pastors in the field yet meaty enough for seminarians in the classroom In The Great CoMission readers will encounter useful principles for discipleship and solid biblical theology for ministry This unique book approaches the Great Commission from a rite of passage framework therefore allowing for serious consideration of the internal mechanisms of Matthew 28 16 20 by focusing on the relationship between initiation instruction and Jesus promise to be with the church to the end of the age Morton writes from a Wesleyan cross cultural and missiological perspective avoiding the popular method of using the Great Commission merely as a holy launching pad for retelling the story of a mega church Contextualization and Syncretism Gailyn Van Rheen, 2006

Culture s influence upon Christianity is easier to discern in retrospect than in prospect If history is our guide one thing is sure This age will be as syncretistic as any other How is the gospel being contextualized in the contemporary world To what degree are these new contextualizations syncretistic This book attempts to answer these questions by defining and analyzing contextualization and syncretism Gailyn Van Rheen Who Do the Ngimurok Say That They Are? Kevin P.

Lines, 2018-04-12 How do missiologists describe the cosmologies of those that Christianity encounters around the world Our descriptions often end up filtered through our own Western religious categories Furthermore indigenous Christians adopt these Western religious categories This presents the problem of local Christianities described by Kwame Bediako as those that have not known how to relate to their traditional culture in terms other than those of denunciation or of separateness Kevin Lines s phenomenological study of local religious specialists in Turkana Kenya not only challenges our Western categories by revealing a more authentic complexity of the issues for local Christians and Western missionaries but also provides a model for continued use of phenomenology as a valued research method in larger missiological studies Additionally this study points to the ways that local Christians and traditional religious practitioners interpret Western missionaries through local religious categories Clearly missionaries missiologists anthropologists and religious studies scholars need to do a much more careful job of studying and describing the contextually specific phenomena of traditional religious specialists before relying on meta categories that come out of our Western theology or older overly simplified ethnographies The research from this current study of Turkana religious specialists begins that process in the Turkana context and offers a model for future studies in contexts where traditional religion and Christianity intersect

Ethnographic Chicago: Considering College Students and Ethiopian & Tamilian Immigrants Missiologically, 2008 Don't be fooled by the title of this book If you are expecting another dry heap of irrelevant missiological research you are going to be sadly disappointed With flair and wit Cody C Lorance slices through the chaff of ethnographic examination to produce Ethnographic Chicago a lively and energetic missiological rumination that has major ramifications for the Southern Baptist churches as well as further afield The local denominational venture is presented complete with all its warts and sparkling insights to encourage other North American missionaries to employ similar missional reflection as well as to serve as a methodological case study to bring about growth for the Kingdom's sake Dr Robert L Gallagher Associate Professor of Intercultural Studies Wheaton College Graduate School Effective Intercultural Evangelism W. Jay Moon, W. Bud Simon, 2021-08-24 We live in a multicultural society but many Christians hesitate to engage those of other faiths about Christianity Exploring evangelism from the perspective of four major worldviews Jay Moon and Bud Simon unpack the intercultural dynamics at hand when sharing the gospel across cultures offering contextual evangelism approaches that are relevant biblical and practical

Walking Together on the Jesus Road Evelyn Hibbert, Richard Hibbert, 2018-08-17 Make discipling culturally relevant Christians who serve Jesus among people from a different culture than their own often struggle to find a good way to disciple people Walking Together on the Jesus Road addresses this need by guiding readers through three essential practices for making disciples across cultures listening to disciples to get to know them and their context focusing on relationships with Christ fellow disciples and others and enabling disciples to live out their faith in culturally relevant ways These practices are the foundation for the long term intentional process of helping disciples from other cultures become more like Jesus The book

Understanding Folk Religion: 25th Anniversary Edition Paul G. Hiebert, R. Daniel Shaw, Tite Tienou, 2024-04-24

This book has served the missiological community for twenty five years as a resource for understanding human spirituality in any context. Thousands of students have incorporated the principles of this book into ministry around the globe. This twenty fifth anniversary edition seeks to enable those who now bring their passion for mission to contemporary contexts affected by globalization, climate change, and political perspectives unimaginable when this book originally appeared. Every community wherever it is on earth has its share of beliefs and values that manifest themselves in practices that reflect spiritual engagement. Those engaged in mission need to appreciate how underlying beliefs and values are reflected in handling spiritual power, worship, and blessing, and interaction with others. Gospel communicators must account for these elements as they seek to make God's intentions known to people who are searching for God. The models presented early in the book are essential for establishing what people consider spiritually critical. Applying these models in any religious environment will enable message bearers to engage with beliefs and practices that promote a gospel presentation that makes sense. To that end, we commend this book for effective missional engagement.
