Understanding the Atonement for the Mission of the Church John Driver, 2005-07-06 At the very center of the Christian faith is Jesus, a crucified Messiah. All the wisdom and the power of God have been revealed in him. Apart from such wisdom and power, no genuine Christian experience is possible. Unfortunately, Western Christianity has been so conditioned by Constantinian presuppositions that it has failed to take into account the centrality of the crucified Messiah. It has been far more preoccupied with worldly wisdom and worldly power than with faithfulness to the gospel of the kingdom. It has concentrated on the salvation of the individual soul but has frequently disregarded God's purpose to create a new humanity marked by sacrificial love and justice for the poor. In the classical theories on the atonement, the work of Christ was unrelated to God's intention to create a new humanity. Driver here demonstrates that the covenanted community of God's people is the essential context for understanding the atonement. The reconciling work of Christ creates a reconciling community where all the barriers that divide humankind break down. Driver's book is an invitation to look at the cross not merely as the source of individual salvation but as the place wherein begins the renewal of the creation, the new heavens and the new earth that God has promised, and that the messianic community anticipates. May many readers heed its message.

Mission Foundations and other Essays S. Nkhoma, 2020-07-09 The first two essays in this book examine the biblical and philosophical basis for mission in the post-modern world, emphasising the experiential quality of mission over against the rational. Subsequent essays discuss various aspects of mission with a focus on the Malawian context. They highlight the impact of missionary work on the formation, shaping, and developments of Malawi as a national state. Other essays examine various issues in New Testament scholarship, including images of the Historical Jesus and how these relate to wisdom and apocalyptic traditions.

The Missions and Missional Purpose of Ephesians Timothy A. van Aarde, 2023-01-12 The purpose of the letter to the Ephesians is unknown. The book suggests that the purpose of Ephesians is about missions and being missional. The author of Ephesians committed the task of missions to the church. The author located the mission of the church in the redemptive plan of God. The redemptive plan, oikonomia of God, consists of historical epochs of missions: the mission of Israel, the mission of Christ, the mission of the disciples, the mission of the apostles, and the mission of the church. The term missional has been used ambiguously. The existence of a distinction between the mission of the church and missional church is demonstrated, and both expressions of mission are grounded in the biblical text of Ephesians. The mission of the church is grounded in an exposition of Eph 1:3, and the missional church is grounded in an exposition of

Eph 4 6 The author of the letter intended for the mission to the nations to be continued by the church this is the mission of the church He intended for the members of the church to continue to reach out to their local community this is expressed by the missional church The mission of the church has been grounded in the Great Commission The missional church is grounded in the values morals and lifestyle principles set out in Eph 4 6

Dictionary of Mission Karl Muller, Theo Sundermeier, Stephen B. Bevans, Richard H.
