The Mirror Makers A History Of American Advertising:

The Mirror Makers Stephen R. Fox, 1984 Stephen Fox explores the consistently cyclical nature of advertising from its beginning. A substantial new introduction updates this lively anecdotal history of advertising into the mid 1990s. Publisher

The Mirror Makers Stephen R. Fox, 1984 The Mirror Makers Stephen R. Fox, 1990-01-01 The book traces the evolution of advertising through print radio and television and in the process discusses the image of advertising itself as seen in novels and films. It also investigates the role of women and minorities in advertising explaining the rise of Jews the coming of age of Italians and why blacks have yet to gain a real foothold. Cover The Mirror Makers Stephen R. Fox, 1984

Chronicles the history of the American advertising industry focusing on colorful personalities through numerous interviews and extensive use of primary sources A History of Advertising Jef I Richards, 2022-05-15 Advertising has always been a uniquely influential social force. It affects what we buy what we believe who we elect and so much more. We tend to know histories of other massive social forces but even people working in advertising often have a tenuous grasp of their field's background. This book slices advertising's history into a smorgasbord of specific topics like advertising to children political advertising people's names as advertisements 3D advertising programmatic buying and so much more offering a synopsis of how each developed and the role it played in this discipline. In doing so many firsts are identified such as the first full page color magazine advertisement and the first point of purchase advertisement. This book also reaches back farther in search of the earliest advertisements and it tells the story of the variety of techniques used by our ancestors to promote their products and ideas. Part textbook part reference the book is an advertising museum in portable form suitable for all levels of students scholars and arm chair enthusiasts. Please note that the hardback and eBook formats of this book feature full color printing. The paperback is grayscale Adman's Dilemma Paul Rutherford, 2018-01-01

The Adman's Dilemma is a cultural biography that explores the rise and fall of the advertising man as a figure who became effectively a licensed deceiver in the process of governing the lives of American consumers. Apparently this personage was caught up in a contradiction both compelled to deceive yet supposed to tell the truth. It was this moral condition and its consequences that made the adman so interesting to critics novelists and eventually filmmakers. The biography tracks his saga from its origins in the exaggerated doings of P. T. Barnum the emergence of a new profession in the 1920s the heyday of the adman's influence during the post WW2 era the later rebranding of the adman as artist until the apparent demise of the figure symbolized by the triumph of that consummate huckster Donald Trump. In The Adman's Dilemma author Paul Rutherford explores how people inside and outside the advertising industry have understood the conflict between artifice and authenticity. The book employs a range of fictional and nonfictional sources including memoirs novels movies TV shows websites and museum exhibits to suggest how the adman embodied some of the strange realities of modernity The Advertising Age Encyclopedia of Advertising John McDonough, Karen Egolf, 2015-06-18 For a full list of entries and contributors a generous selection of sample entries and

Commercial Intimacy Richard Popp, Brenton Malin, Wendy A. Woloson, 2025-06-03 Explores how marketers have leveraged feelings of personal familiarity in modern consumer capitalism Our wired world connects us with corporations in ways that just a generation ago would have been hard to imagine Marketers track users habits down to the swipe and scroll brand influencers reach out to followers in ever more personal ways Yet however much we may feel individually recognized or targeted by today s marketers the connections they make are in truth fleeting and tactical They are also nothing new Marketplace transactions have long been mediated by interactions that blur the line between the putatively public and rational world of commerce and the supposedly private and emotional realm of personal relations That there is an affective tenor to every sales scenario has never been a secret to talented marketers How exactly marketers have tried to set those moods by endowing commercial relationships with an aura of personal affinity is the subject of Commercial Intimacy Its chapters explore the broad theme of commercial intimacy that is market based feelings of spatial and emotional closeness in US consumer culture from the mid nineteenth century to the late twentieth century They show how experiences of intimacy have been orchestrated by marketers operating at a variety of distances from the face to face solicitations made by retail clerks and direct sales agents to the long distance appeals made by mail order merchants print and TV advertisers telemarketers and e commerce platforms The volume pays especially close attention to how these revenue minded acts of ingratiation worked how they were shaped by the technologies behind them and how they capitalized on contemporary dynamics of gender and sexuality At the heart of this volume then is the question of how our understanding of business history changes when we take the emotional sensational and affective dynamics of intimacy to be foundational elements of commercial persuasion Contributors Samuel Backer Jennifer M Black Donna J Drucker Isabelle Marina Held Julie A Johnson Lindsay Mitchell Keiter Stephanie Kolberg Brenton J Malin Cynthia B Meyers Richard K Popp Nicole E Weber Wendy A Woloson

Communicating in Canada's Past Gene Allen, Daniel Robinson, 2009-11-14 Communicating in Canada s Past evolved out of essays presented at the inaugural Conference on Media History in Canada of 2006 which brought together media historians from across the disciplines and from both French and English Canada The first collection of its kind this volume assembles both well established and up and coming scholars to address sizable gaps in the literature on media history in Canada Communicating in Canada s Past includes a substantial introduction to media history as a field of study historiographical essays by senior scholars Mary Vipond Paul Rutherford and Fernande Roy and original research essays on a range of subjects including print journalism radio television and advertising

Editors Gene Allen and Daniel J Robinson have provided a sophisticated wide ranging introduction for those who are new to media history while also assembling a valuable collection of new research and theory for those already familiar with the field

Feeling Mediated Brenton J. Malin, 2014-03-28 New technologies whether text message or telegraph inevitably raise questions about emotion New forms of communication bring with them both fear and hope on one hand allowing us deeper emotional connections and the ability to forge global communities while on the other prompting anxieties about isolation and over stimulation Feeling Mediated investigates the larger context of such concerns considering both how media technologies intersect with our emotional lives and how our ideas about these intersections influence how we think about and experience emotion and technology themselves Drawing on extensive archival research Brenton J Malin explores the historical roots of much of our recent understanding of mediated feelings showing how earlier ideas about the telegraph phonograph radio motion pictures and other once new technologies continue to inform our contemporary thinking With insightful analysis Feeling Mediated explores a series of fascinating arguments about technology and emotion that became especially heated during the early 20th century These debates which carried forward and transformed earlier discussions of technology and emotion culminated in a set of ideas that became institutionalized in the structures of American media production advertising social research and policy leaving a lasting impact on our everyday lives
