The Moving Target

Ross Macdonald

The Moving Target:

The Moving Target Ross Macdonald, 1998-03-03 The first book in Ross Macdonald's acclaimed Lew Archer series introduces the detective who redefined the role of the American private eye and gave the crime novel a psychological depth and moral complexity only hinted at before Like many Southern California millionaires Ralph Sampson keeps odd company There's the sun worshipping holy man whom Sampson once gave his very own mountain the fading actress with sidelines in astrology and S M Now one of Sampson's friends may have arranged his kidnapping As Lew Archer follows the clues from the canyon sanctuaries of the megarich to jazz joints where you get beaten up between sets The Moving Target blends sex greed and family hatred into an explosively readable crime novel The Moving Target Ross Macdonald, 1978 The Moving Target Ross Macdonald, 1986 The Moving Target, 1949 The Moving Target Ross Macdonald, 1970 The Sampson family made their money in the Texas oil fields and spent it on the California coast There was plenty of it left when Ralph Sampson disappeared Mrs Sampson a paralytic blonde who had bad dreams called Archer in to find him and his checkbook The trail that Archer followed took him down through the seven circles of California society Sampson had mixed with thieves and murderers a cult of phony sun worshippers a silent movie star in the last stages of degradation a boogie pianist who had served her time In company like that you look for trouble and Archer found plenty of trouble The Moving Target William Goldman, 1965 Proceedings, 2004 The Moving Target. Poems. (Second Printing.) William Stanley Merwin, 1966 Spatial Biases in Perception and Cognition Timothy L. Hubbard, 2018-08-23 Our experience of the world is influenced by numerous spatial biases most of which influence us without our being aware of them These biases are related to illusions and asymmetries in our perception of space relationships between space and other qualities dynamics of moving objects dynamics of scene configuration and dynamics related to perception and action Consideration of these biases provides insight into how we perceive remember and navigate space as well as how we interact with objects and people in space This volume introduces and reviews numerous spatial biases and provides descriptions and examples of each bias The contributors discuss historical and current theories for many biases and for some biases provide new explanatory theories Providing a one stop shop for information on such a key aspect of our experience in the world this volume will interest anyone curious about our understanding of space Awareness shaping or shaped by prediction and postdiction Yuki Yamada, Takahiro Kawabe, 2015-06-08 We intuitively believe that we are aware of the external world as it is Unfortunately this is not entirely true In fact the capacity of our sensory system is too small to veridically perceive the world To overcome this problem the sensory system has to spatiotemporally integrate neural signals in order to interpret the external world However the spatiotemporal integration involves severe neural latencies How does the sensory system keep up with the ever changing external world As later discussed prediction and postdiction are essential keywords here For example the sensory system uses temporally preceding events to predict subsequent events e.g. Nijhawan 1994 Kerzel 2003

Hubbard 2005 even when the preceding event is subliminally presented Schmidt 2000 Moreover internal prediction modulates the perception of action outcomes Bays et al 2005 Cardoso Leite et al 2010 and sense of agency Wenke et al 2010 Prediction is also an indispensable factor for movement planning and control Kawato 1999 On the other hand the sensory system also makes use of subsequent events to postdictively interpret a preceding event e g Eagleman Enns 2002 Khuu et al 2010 Kawabe 2011 2012 Miyazaki et al 2010 Ono Lau et al 2007 How prediction and postdiction shape awareness of the external world is an intriguing question Prediction is involved with the encoding of incoming signals whereas postdiction is related to a re interpretation of already encoded signals Given this perspective prediction and postdiction may exist along a processing stream for a single external event However it is unclear whether and if so how prediction and postdiction interact with each other to shape awareness of the external world Awareness of the external world may also shape prediction and or postdiction It is plausible that awareness of the external world drives the prediction and postdiction of future and past appearances of the world However the literature provides little information about the role of awareness of the external world in prediction and postdiction This background propelled us to propose this research topic with the aim of offering a space for systematic discussion concerning the relationship between awareness prediction and postdiction among researchers in broad research areas such as psychology psychophysics neuroscience cognitive science philosophy and so forth We encouraged papers that address one or more of the following questions 1 How does prediction shape awareness of the external world 2 How does postdiction shape awareness of the external world 3 How do prediction and postdiction interact with each other in shaping awareness of the external world 4 How does awareness of the external world shape prediction postdiction
