Sources of Aggregate in Northern Ireland Ian Burnett Cameron, E. N. Calvert-Harrison, 1977      Sources of Aggregate in Northern Ireland Ian Burnett Cameron, 1970      Asphalts in Road Construction Robert N Hunter, 2000-09

This is a useful guide to all facets of asphalt technology as applied to the construction and maintenance of highways and reflects the very best of UK asphalt and pavement technology. It covers all aspects of fully flexible road construction from foundation design through to surface treatment. The book also covers new materials.

Sand and Gravel Resources of the Grampian Region Ian Brown Paterson, Ian Burnett Cameron, Institute of Geological Sciences (Great Britain), J. L. Roberts, M. A. E. Browne, Moira E. Thomson, R. Owens, T. J. G. Francis, Vivian N. D. Caston, 1977      The Geology of Ireland Charles Hepworth Holland, Ian Sanders, 2022-07-18

The Geology of Ireland is about the island of Ireland as a physical whole and includes chapters on marine geology and the history of geology in Ireland. The text is intended for professional geologists and students of geology.

Lough Neagh R.B. Wood, R.V. Smith, 2013-04-18

Lough Neagh is the largest lake in the British Isles. It covers an area of 383 km<sup>2</sup> being 30 km along its longest axis. From pre-historic times the lake and its rivers influenced the settlements of man in the role of a fishery and communication link with the interior of Ireland. Ireland's first canal completed in 1787 linked the small but significant coal deposits of Tyrone to Dublin by way of the lough and later the Lagen Canal became an important commercial route to the new city of Belfast. Today only sand barge transport persists but the lough supports Europe's largest eel fishery and provides commercial salmon trout and perch catches besides acting as an important centre for recreational pursuits. Increasingly it has become the major water resource for Northern Ireland supplying much of the demand for the heavily populated Belfast area. Biologically the lough is rich sustaining enormous invertebrate populations of for example chironomids and gammarids alongside the comparatively exotic glacial relict Mysis relicta. Its bird life makes the lough an area of very special conservation interest as a Ramsar site. The book describes the basic ecology of the lough with particular emphasis on both the interaction of the physical chemical and biological components and the role of ecology in resource management. Extensive recent researches are set in geological geographical and historical context and together with palaeolimnological studies of the sediments are used to trace major changes in the ecology of the lough under man's influence especially in the past 100 years.

Northern Ireland James George Cruickshank, David N. Wilcock, 1982      Lea's Chemistry of Cement and Concrete Peter Hewlett, 2003-11-12

Lea's Chemistry of Cement and Concrete deals with the chemical and physical properties of cements and concretes and their relation to the practical problems that arise in manufacture and use. As such it is addressed not only to the chemist and those concerned with the science and technology of silicate materials but also to those interested in the use of concrete in building and civil engineering construction. Much attention is given to the suitability of materials to the conditions under which concrete can excel and those where it may deteriorate and to the precautionary or remedial measures that can be adopted. First published in 1935 this is the fourth edition and the first to appear since the death of Sir Frederick Lea the original author Over the life of the first three editions this book has become the authority on its subject The fourth edition is edited by Professor Peter C Hewlett Director of the British Board of Agrement and visiting Industrial Professor in the Department of Civil Engineering at the University of Dundee Professor Hewlett has brought together a distinguished body of international contributors to produce an edition which is a worthy successor to the previous editions
