Development Centre Studies The World Economy Volume 1: A Millennial Perspective and Volume 2: Historical Statistics Maddison Angus, 2006-09-18 The World Economy brings together two reference works by Angus Maddison The World Economy A Millennial Perspective 2001 and The World Economy Historical Statistics 2003 This new edition contains Statlinks so that readers can access the underlying data in Excel format Wives, Slaves, and Concubines Eric Jones, 2011-12-15 Wives Slaves and Concubines argues that Dutch colonial practices and law created a new set of social and economic divisions in Batavia Jakarta modern day Indonesia to deal with difficult realities in Southeast Asia Jones uses compelling stories from ordinary Asian women to explore the profound structural changes occurring at the end of the early colonial period changes that helped birth the modern world order Based on previously untapped criminal proceedings and testimonies by women who appeared before the Dutch East India Company s Court of Alderman this fascinating study details the ways in which demographic and economic realities transformed the social and legal landscape of eighteenth century Batavia Jakarta Southeast Asian women played an inordinately important role in the functioning of the early modern Asia Trade and in the short and long term operations of the Dutch East India Company VOC Southeast Asia was a place where most individuals operated within an intricate web of multiple fluid situational and reciprocal social relationships ranging from dependence to bondedness to slavery The eighteenth century represents an important turning point the relatively open and autonomous Asia Trade that prompted Columbus to set sail had begun to give way to an age of high imperialism and European economic hegemony How did these changes affect life for ordinary women in early modern Dutch Asia and how did the transformations wrought by Dutch colonialism alter their lives The VOC created a legal division that favored members of mixed VOC families those in which Asian women married men employed by the VOC Thus employment not race became the path to legal preference a factor that disadvantaged the rest of the Asian women In short colonialism created a new underclass in Asia one that had a particularly female cast By the latter half of the eighteenth century an increasingly operational dichotomy of slave and free supplanted an otherwise fluid system of reciprocal bondedness The inherent divisions of this new system engendered social friction especially as the emergent early modern economic order demanded new tractable forms of labor Dutch domestic law gave power to female elites in Dutch Asia but it left the majority of women vulnerable to the more privileged on both sides of this legal divide Slaves fled and violence erupted when traditional expectations of social mobility collided with new demands from the masters and the state The Indonesian Economy in the Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries A. Booth, 1998-03-04 Indonesia is now the fourth largest country in the world but many aspects of its economic history remain poorly understood This book is the first comprehensive survey of Indonesian economic history in the 19th and 20th centuries examining both the Dutch colonial era and the post independence period Extensive use is made of recent work by Dutch Indonesian and Australian scholars to develop a number of key themes relating to economic growth and structural transformation of the Indonesian economy from the early 19th century to the present Asian Population History Ts'ui-jung Liu, James Lee, David Sven Reher, Osamu Saito, Wang Feng, 2001-05-10 The study of Asian historical demography has lagged behind that of its European and American counterparts for some time This volume serves to narrow the gap by drawing together material from scholars specializing in demography across the spectrum of Asian countries The collection divides into four parts and contains nineteen chapters covering issues on comparative perspective fertility disease and mortality and marriage and family The geographic coverage of the chapters is also wide extending from East Asia to South Asia with specific emphasis on Japan China Taiwan Indonesia India and Sri Lanka Authors focus on a whole range of social groups discussing how demographic issues affect and have affected both urban and rural dwellers from the seventeenth to the twentieth century This volume which is perhaps the first to bring together a number of in depth specialist studies on Asian population history should prove a useful and engaging tool for both students and academics in the fields of demography history and Asian studies Sexual Politics in Indonesia S. Wieringa, 2002-05-21 This book analyzes the interaction between nationalism feminism and socialism in Indonesia since the beginning of the twentieth century until the New Order State of President Suharto The focus is on the communist women s organization Gerwani which was by 1965 the largest communist women s organization in the non communist world Gerwani members combined feminist demands such as a reform of the marriage law with an insistence upon a political role for women The organization was destroyed in a campaign of sexual slander orchestrated by the military under General Suharto Hundreds of thousands of people were killed President Sukarno lost his power and General Suharto took over War and Nationalism in South Asia Marcus Franke, 2009-01-21 This book presents and analyses the oldest sub national war of postcolonial South Asia between the Indian state and the Nagas of Northeast India It offers a serious and thorough political history on the Naga region over three periods pre colonial colonial and post colonial Drawing on a wealth of primary sources and comparative and theoretical literature Marcus Franke demonstrates that agency and identity formation are an on going process that neither started nor ended with colonialism Although the interaction of the local population with colonialism produced a Naga national lite it was the emergence of the Indian political class with access to superior means of nation and state building that was able to undertake the modern Indo Naga war This war firmly made the Nagas into a nation and that set them onto the road to independence War and Nationalism in South Asia fundamentally revises our understanding of the existing histories of the Nagas by exposing them to be influenced by colonial or post colonial narratives of domination Furthermore by placing the region into the longue dur e of state formation with its involved technique of imperial rule the book presents a new approach to the study of nationalism and war in South Asia in general This book will be of interest to students and scholars of politics history anthropology and South Asian studies Women and Households in Indonesia Juliette Koning, Marleen Nolten, Janet Rodenburg, Ratna Saptari, 2013-11-19 Critically examines the usefulness of the household concept within the historically and culturally diverse context of Indonesia exploring in detail the position of women within and beyond domestic arrangements So far classical household and kinship studies have not studied how women deal with two major forces which shape and define their world local kinship traditions and the universalising ideology of the Indonesian regime which both provide prescriptions and prohibitions concerning family marriage and womanhood Women are caught between these conflicting notions and practices How they challenge or accommodate such forces is the main issue in this book The Borderlands of Southeast Asia James Clad, Sean M. McDonald, Bruce Vaughn, 2011 As an academic field in its own right the topic of border studies is experiencing a revival in university geography courses as well as in wider political commentary Until recently border studies in contemporary Southeast Asia appeared as an afterthought at best to the politics of interstate rivalry and national consolidation The maps set out all agreed postcolonial lines Meanwhile the physical demarcation of these boundaries lagged Large slices of territory on land and at sea eluded definition or delineation That comforting ambiguity has disappeared Both evolving technologies and price levels enable rapid resource extraction in places and in volumes once scarcely imaginable The beginning of the 21st century's second decade is witnessing an intensifying diplomacy both state to state and commercial over offshore petroleum In particular the South China Sea has moved from being a rather arcane area of conflict studies to the status of a bellwether issue Along with other contested areas in the western Pacific and south Asia the problem increasingly defines China's regional relationships in Asia and with powers outside the region especially the United States Yet intraregional territorial differences also hobble multilateral diplomacy to counter Chinese claims and daily management of borders remains burdened by a lot of retrospective baggage The contributors to this book emphasize this mix of heritage and history as the primary leitmotif for contemporary border rivalries and dynamics Whether the region's 11 states want it or not their bordered identity is falling into ever sharper definition if only because of pressure from extraregional states This book aims to provide new ways of looking at the reality and illusion of bordered Southeast Asia

Singapore Michael D. Barr, 2018-12-13 Singapore gained independence in 1965 a city state in a world of nation states Yet its long and complex history reaches much farther back Blending modernity and tradition ideologies and ethnicities a peculiar set of factors make Singapore what it is today In this thematic study of the island nation Michael D Barr proposes a new approach to understand this development From the pre colonial period through to the modern day he traces the idea the politics and the geography of Singapore over five centuries of rich history In doing so he rejects the official narrative of the so called Singapore Story Drawing on in depth archival work and oral histories Singapore A Modern History is a work both for students of the country's history and politics but also for any reader seeking to engage with this enigmatic and vastly successful nation A Dragon's Head and a Serpent's Tail Kenneth M. Swope, 2013-04-29 The invasion of Korea by Japanese troops in May of 1592 was no ordinary military expedition it was one of the decisive events in Asian history and the most tragic for the Korean peninsula until the mid twentieth century Japanese overlord Toyotomi Hideyoshi envisioned conquering Korea Ming China and eventually all of Asia but Korea's appeal to China's Emperor Wanli for assistance triggered a six year war involving hundreds of thousands of soldiers and encompassing the whole region For Japan the war was a dragon's head followed by a serpent's tail an impressive beginning with no real ending Kenneth M Swope has undertaken the first full length scholarly study in English of this important conflict Drawing on Korean Japanese and especially Chinese sources he corrects the Japan centered perspective of previous accounts and depicts Wanli not as the self indulgent ruler of received interpretations but rather one actively engaged in military affairs and concerned especially with rescuing China's client state of Korea He puts the Ming in a more vigorous light detailing Chinese siege warfare the development and deployment of innovative military technologies and the naval battles that marked the climax of the war He also explains the war's repercussions outside the military sphere particularly the dynamics of intraregional diplomacy within the shadow of the Chinese tributary system What Swope calls the First Great East Asian War marked both the emergence of Japan's desire to extend its sphere of influence to the Chinese mainland and a military revival of China's commitment to defending its interests in Northeast Asia Swope's account offers new insight not only into the history of warfare in Asia but also into a conflict that reverberates in international relations to this day

Prostitution Ian Walters, 2015-07-06 Was prostitution the inevitable byproduct of increasingly complex human societies Prostitution Recent and Unstoppable addresses two largely unknown and unexplored aspects of sex work its origins and its future In linking the anthropological and historic past with contemporary and future cultures and societies Dr Ian Walters seeks to inspire new discussion into what is commonly known as the world's oldest profession As a reflection of social and political factors as well as the structural evolution of culture Walters argues that prostitution was the inevitable byproduct of advancing human civilization Walters proposes that prostitution most likely came about approximately seven thousand years ago at the eastern end of the Mediterranean Within these very big hierarchy VBH societies a new industry was born as a reflection of emerging social forms Was the rise of prostitution a Holocene phenomenon associated with the formation of more complex social constructs The ideas proposed perhaps reveal the need for future field and laboratory work As regards to the future prostitution is shown to be unstoppable It will continue for as long as humans or equivalently sentient life forms exist The theory developed here allows comment on three important issues in human social change the onset of VBH societies the ultimate collapse of these cultures and the intricate relationship between cultural change and energy harnessing Small Island, Large Ocean Burkhard Schnepel,2023-05-19 This book is about a Small Island namely Mauritius in the southwestern Indian Ocean It is also about a Large Ocean the Indian Ocean world its peoples histories and cultures It casts light on the life of an island through what is known not only about the island itself but also through what is known about the wider Indian Ocean world It is also about the Indian Ocean world in that it focuses on an island which in many senses and dimensions is not only a model of but in some respects also a model for wider developments and features of relevance to the Indian Ocean world as a whole
