

A photograph of three people standing in a desert landscape under a clear blue sky. On the left, a man in a black jacket and pants looks off to the side. In the center, a woman in a grey hoodie and pants wears sunglasses. On the right, a man in a light blue sweatshirt, grey pants, a black cap, and glasses looks towards the camera. The word "SWIB" is overlaid in large white letters in the center of the image.

Plymouth Jeremy Gould, 2015-04-01 Post war reconstruction offered unparalleled opportunities to the developing profession of urban planners to cast off the constraints imposed by historic infrastructure and produce a new vision of urban living expressed in rationally designed city centres linked to suburban precincts and with modern integrated transport systems Plymouth is the foremost English example of post war reconstruction on the grand scale laid out to the designs of the most influential urban planner of the day Sir Patrick Abercrombie This book explains the circumstances which led to the development of Abercrombie's Plan for Plymouth 1943 and shows how the plan was implemented in the period 1945-62 Discussion of the overall scheme for the renewed city is complemented by description of the different zones which made up both the central area and the new suburbs and attention is paid to the landscape forms and architectural styles employed in civic commercial and residential areas The significance of what was achieved in Plymouth will be assessed and international context is provided by comparison with British and European examples of contemporary planning Urban regeneration programmes pose a threat to the legacy of the post war reconstruction period and the listing of post war buildings is often contentious and contested Finally a discussion of the conservation issues raised by present day plans for renewal in Plymouth will contribute to current debate about the formulation of policy relating to the buildings and landscapes of the post war era
