Symbolizing The Past:

Symbols that Bind, Symbols that Divide Scott L. Moeschberger, Rebekah A. Phillips DeZalia, 2014-05-14 This work explores the function of both divisive and uniting symbols in various conflict settings around the world. It takes a fairly broad perspective on what constitutes a symbol to include objects such as flags, signs, language, and monuments, all of which convey conflicting meanings in a society affected by conflict. In addition, the authors include commemorations and other dynamic events that serve as a means for groups or individuals to connect with past generations, celebrate a heritage, and possibly express religiosity. In order to provide context for the nuances surrounding the symbols, there are brief historical overviews for each conflict featured in the volume. In each chapter, three issues are emphasized: the particular symbols that are divisive in the specific culture, how these symbols were used to perpetuate conflict, and how these symbols can be used or modified to bring unification. Contributions come from authors from around the world that have conducted empirical studies on intergroup relationships or have provided significant academic contributions in the area of symbols and collective memories represented in theoretical publications. Taken together, the contents of the volume provide a rich tapestry of intellectual analyses to the diverse selection of conflict settings from around the globe. In addition to the nine case studies, there is an introductory chapter which grounds the discussion in current peace psychology literature as well as provides future directions. This volume is a valuable resource to many as the focus on symbols can span many disciplines such as political science, anthropology, sociology, psychology, and art. Furthermore, it is of significant interest to all scholars and peace activists studying these various countries and their conflicts.

Meaning and Representation in History Jörn Rüsen,2006-08-01 History has always been more than just the past It involves a relationship between past and present perceived on the one hand as a temporal chain of events and on the other symbolically as an interpretation that gives meaning to these events through varying cultural orientations charging it with norms and values hopes and fears And it is memory that links the present to the past and therefore has to be seen as the most fundamental procedure of the human mind that constitutes history memory and historical thinking are the door of the human mind to experience At the same time it transforms the past into a meaningful and sense bearing part of the present and beyond It is these complex interrelationships that are the focus of the contributors to this volume among them such distinguished scholars as Paul Ricoeur Johan Galtung Eberhard L mmert and James E Young Full of profound insights into human society past and present it is a book that not only historians but also philosophers and social scientists should engage with
