Compendium of Neurosymbolic Artificial Intelligence Md Kamruzzaman Sarker, Aaron Eberhart, 2023-08-15 If only it were possible to develop automated and trainable neural systems that could justify their behavior in a way that could be interpreted by humans like a symbolic system The field of Neurosymbolic AI aims to combine two disparate approaches to AI symbolic reasoning and neural or connectionist approaches such as Deep Learning The quest to unite these two types of AI has led to the development of many innovative techniques which extend the boundaries of both disciplines This book Compendium of Neurosymbolic Artificial Intelligence presents 30 invited papers which explore various approaches to defining and developing a successful system to combine these two methods Each strategy has clear advantages and disadvantages with the aim of most being to find some useful middle ground between the rigid transparency of symbolic systems and the more flexible yet highly opaque neural applications The papers are organized by theme with the first four being overviews or surveys of the field These are followed by papers covering neurosymbolic reasoning neurosymbolic architectures various aspects of Deep Learning and finally two chapters on natural language processing All papers were reviewed internally before publication The book is intended to follow and extend the work of the previous book Neuro symbolic artificial intelligence The state of the art IOS Press 2021 which laid out the breadth of the field at that time Neurosymbolic AI is a young field which is still being actively defined and explored and this book will be of interest to those working in AI research and development

Inclusive Humanism Christoph Antweiler,2012 The diversity of interconnected cultures on a bounded planet requires more shared orientations The humanities and politics have to face fundamental questions What does a humanism look like that does not move too rapidly to universalize the views and historical experiences of the European or American world How can we conceive of globality as a new entity without playing unity and diversity off against one another Does a world culture that is becoming ever closely related in fact need common values or only rules of human exchange How can we succeed at civilizing an ever present ethnocentrism How do we keep the terms culture and humanity from being misused as weapons in identity wars Any realistic cosmopolitanism must proceed from an understanding of humankind as one entity without requiring us to re design cultures to fit on with some sort of global template Answers can be gained by deploying shared characteristics of humans as well as pan cultural commonalities This book offers an anthropologically informed foundation for addressing pertinent questions of intercultural exchange implications of pragmatic reflection on the nature of language Without purporting to cover all relevant topics this variety reflects the complex character of linguistic pragmatics and integrates studies which cross cut other research fields The book is divided in three parts The seven papers gathered in the first part of the volume Speech Action in Theory are concentrated on theoretical issues pertaining to speech as a type of action with emphasis both on linguistic forms e g fragments and theoretical commitments and particular theories explanatory power Part two Case Studies Experimental Pragmatics includes reports on research into irony processing in Polish and in English as a second language intercultural differences in interactions broadcast in the media power relations in doctor patient interaction and metaphors in media discourse at the time of crisis Part three Pragmatics Grammar and Language Pedagogy contains five essays which explore both more formal pragmatics through analyses of grammatical forms and the interface which the analysis of these forms share with context grounded research and the practical implications of pragmatic knowledge in language didactics This collection is supplemented by the essays gathered in volume two entitled Pragmatics of Semantically Restricted Domains
