Islamic Economic Institutions In Indonesia: Are They Successful In Achieving The Maqasad-al-shari'ah Toseef Azid,Muhammad Syafii Antonio,Zafar Kayani,Murniati

Mukhlisin,2023-04-10 Islamic institutions have had a very long history whose performance was muted during the Colonial Period However after the Second World War the revival of the Islamic institutions began Throughout its history it had been assumed that these institutions are working for the betterment of humanity Their target is to achieve a high level of the welfare for the concerned community Historically these institutions were waqf zakat and sadaqat However from the last three decades Islamic financial institutions have been established with the objective of providing interest free products transaction and services for Muslims However there has been lot of criticism on the performance and role of these institutions This becomes especially pertinent in a Muslim country like Indonesia where there is a dire need to know that how these institutions are working and if it is possible for them to achieve the objectives of the Shari ah Some scholars have claimed that these institutions are performative and only serving lip service and there are no significant differences between the Islamic and secular institutions where both kinds of institutions operate on the same foundations and differ only in use of technical terminologies This volume aims to analyze some of the Islamic institutions which are operating in the world s biggest Muslim country Indonesia as a case study and analyze the contemporary Islamic Banking products and practices in the light of Maqasad al Shari ah The book s objective is to propose an improved system of Islamic institutions for Muslims to refer to This volume will also analyze why these institutions are currently not able to comply with the Maqasad al Shari ah and how it is possible to enhance the level of economic development social wellbeing individual freedom and equality elimination of injustice and poverty and achieve the other targets of the Maqasad through these institutions The Paradox of Islamic Finance Ryan Calder,2024-08-06 How the booming Islamic finance industry became an ultramodern hybrid of religion and markets In just fifty years Islamic finance has grown from a tiny experiment operated from a Volkswagen van to a thriving global industry worth more than the entire financial sector of India South America or Eastern Europe You can now shop with an Islamic credit card invest in Islamic bonds and buy Islamic derivatives But how has this spectacular growth been possible given Islam s strictures against interest In The Paradox of Islamic Finance Ryan Calder examines the Islamic finance boom arguing that shariah scholars experts in Islamic law who certify financial products as truly Islamic have made the industry a profitable if controversial hybrid of religion and markets Critics say Islamic finance merely reproduces conventional interest based finance with the shariah scholars blessing From an economic perspective they are right the most popular Islamic products act like conventional interest bearing ones earning healthy profits for Islamic banks and global financial heavyweights like Deutsche Bank and Goldman Sachs Yet as Calder shows by delving into the shariah scholars day to day work what seem like high tech work arounds to outsiders carry deep and nuanced meaning to the scholars and to the hundreds of millions of Muslims who respect their expertise He argues that shariah scholars conception of Islamic finance is perfectly suited to the age of financialization and the global efflorescence of shariah minded Islam
