Uyghur Conceptions of Family and Society Xiaowei Zang, 2017-06-26 Contributing to existing literature on ethnic studies in China this book is a study of minority subjective experiences in China using Uyghur Muslims as a case study By examining Uyghur conceptions of family and society it investigates whether or not ethnic minorities are culturally capable of understanding and internalizing global norms on equality community citizenship trust justice and wellbeing Specifically it empirically examines Uyghur perceptions of issues such as spousal relations parenting community engagement and life satisfaction Using data gathered from fieldwork in r mchi the author is able to show that there is in fact a high degree of Uyghur conformity to global norms on family and society In the contemporary context of an Islamic revival and a recent resurgence of Uyghur nationalism the evidence presented in this book is particularly important to the understanding of the Uyghur ethnic group and other minorities in the region Whilst making a valuable contribution to the fields of anthropology and sociology this book will be useful for students of Chinese studies Religious studies Ethnic studies and Social Psychology

Arab Modernities Jaafar Aksikas, 2009 Arab Modernities is a critical interrogation of some of the ideologies of so called modernity and modernization in the post colonial Arab world with a specific focus on three political ideologies liberalism nationalism and Islamism By providing a critical analysis of the work of major Arab intellectuals activists namely Abdallah Laroui Mohamed Abed al Jabri and Abdessalam Yassine Arab Modernities brings together three political ideologies that have hitherto been considered competing and even incompatible in the Arab world This much needed intervention is also best understood as an inquiry into one of the central paradoxes of post colonial Arab societies and Middle Eastern societies more generally the rise of Islamism and Islamist fundamentalism at a time when global neo liberalism has declared the end of history Arab Modernities is a sophisticated attempt to name contemporary Islamism and Arab nationalism and liberalism to delineate the social cultural economic and political conditions under which they first emerged evolved and ultimately failed and thereby to shed light on Arab Islamic societies at the current historical conjuncture Arab Modernities argues against facile analyses that attribute the rise and subsequent decline of liberalism and nationalism as well as the current rise of Islamism to purely cultural religious or ideological factors and provides a rigorous complex materialist critique where Arab ideologies of modernity are placed in the context of the particular historical formation within which they have developed and to which they have responded Al Jumu'ah ,2003
