Walker, 2006-01-01 James R Walker was a physician to the Pine Ridge Sioux from 1896 to 1914 His accounts of this time taken from his personal papers reveal much about Lakota life and culture This third volume of previously unpublished material from the Walker collection presents his work on Lakota myth and legend This edition includes classic examples of Lakota oral literature narratives that were known only to a few Oglala holy men and Walker's own literary cycle based on all he had learned about Lakota myth Lakota Myth is an indispensable source for students of comparative literature religion and mythology as well as those interested in Lakota culture Born in the Blood Brian Swann, 2011 An anthology of essays on the translation of Native American languages and literatures by top scholars in the field Shades of Empire in Colonial and Post-Colonial Literatures, 2021-11-01 The scope of the articles in Shades of Empire in Colonial and Post Colonial Literatures which are arranged in a broad sweep from East to West with four short papers nestled in the middle on the theme of colonialism and motherhood is extensive and varied But in one way or another they all reflect the growing importance of literatures and cultures that might once have been regarded as marginal During the colonial period the literature of the centre took possession of the margin as well as of the imagination of the margin But only recently has the question been raised as to why traditional English literary history has paid so little attention to colonial literature Now post colonial literatures are writing themselves back into the centre and what used to be the margins of the English language world have now set themselves up as rival centres An interesting question to arise from this is whether in the process the former colonial or colonizing literature has now itself turned into a post colonial literature What this book affirms is the importance and interest of a wide variety of literatures sharing a language but reflecting a rich and provocative diversity of histories experiences and attitudes to the shared world which still also divides us
