

Chapter 2: Methods of Studying Sociology

Components of a Scientific Theory

1. Concepts and Variables

- A concept is an abstract system
- Helps us to perceive a phenomenon in a particular way. These are tools that helps is to share meaning
- Degree or value of a concept is called variables. Ex.: Dollar (concept), level of income (variable)

2. Proposition and Hypotheses

- Proposition is a statement about the nature of some phenomena
- When the proposition is formulated in a way that can be tested, is called a hypothesis
- Ex: Students' hard work and their academic success
- Ex: Hours of study and GPA

- Operationalization: Measuring a concept or variable

- Think about a 10-point scale you see at the doctor's office
- Quantify the concept
- Makes an abstract variable measurable
- Observable
- Permits another researcher to replicate the study

Standards of Scientific Inquiry

1. Objectivity: Bias-free. I will do the research objectively
 2. Replication: Someone else can duplicate the study. The research should be replicable.
 3. Precision of measurement: The result should be precise, valid, and reliable.
- Does it mean that we cannot study abstract concepts, like pain/happiness?

Bryant,Dennis L. Peck,2007 Publisher Description Essentials of Criminological Theory L. Thomas Winfree, Jr.,Jennifer Wareham,Howard Abadinsky,2025-07-15 Tracing the evolution of theories and their influence the authors provide a solid foundation for understanding why people commit crime and the role theory plays in criminal justice practices The book is an overview of the essentials of criminological theory its origins assumptions causal arguments applications and insights into new directions suggested by current testing expansion and use of the theories Ideas that attempt to describe explain predict and possibly control a specific behavior sometimes remain as originally conceived and sometimes evolve into something quite different Change is an important and exciting aspect of crime theory To help readers assimilate and synthesize the essentials of criminological theory each chapter contains learning objectives boxed material to stimulate critical thinking key terms summaries and critical review questions A comprehensive glossary facilitates easy review of important terms Environmental Law, Crime, and Justice Ronald G. Burns, Michael J. Lynch, Paul Stretesky, 2008 Environmental harms associated with pollution of the air land and water kill and injure more people than street crime on an annual and daily basis Financially the losses associated with environmental damage are enormous Environmental Law Crime and Justice addresses these issues through providing an introduction to the study of environmental issues pertinent to the study of environmental crime contemporary environmental law environmental policy and environmental justice This book blends together areas that are often treated or studied individually or in isolation from one another Designed for classroom use Environmental Law Crime and Justice exposes readers to the variety of issues involved in the study of environmental law crime and justice illustrates the serious nature of these problems and demonstrates how readers can and should become involved in studying environmental crime law and crime BOOK JACKET De-Coca-Colonization Steven

Flusty, 2004-03-01 A novel theoretical account of globalization De Coca Colonization argues that we must move away from top down visions of the processes at work and concentrate on how ordinary people who are locked out of power structures create globalities of their own Cannabis Michał Wanke, Sveinung Sandberg, Ruken Macit, Hakan Gülerce, 2024-06-14 This book demonstrates how culture matters for the understanding of cannabis use It stems from the growing body of research on how users manoeuvre stigmatisation and celebrate the subcultural status of cannabis amid rapid transformation of the substance and its societal reception The volume presents international studies that challenge the normalisation thesis and simplified views on patterns of use as well as the Western bias in social research of cannabis Chapters in this book map the variability of cannabis cultures and markets on a global scale including digital regulated and illicit markets in transformation They study cannabis through stigmatisation gender social worlds symbolic boundaries subcultures and identity work The chapters address diverse themes such as how Latvian Polish Nigerian or Mexican users negotiate mainstream conservative and sometimes gendered societal reactions to cannabis and how Nordic users identities are played out in more progressive contexts Chapters also cover cannabis use by older people and small growers cultures in the US and the interconnections between the established cultures and their digital augmentation in Australia Synthetic cannabis use is studied in New Zealand and the many contradictions of contemporary cannabis policies are highlighted throughout Taken together this book offers an assortment of studies that provide a descriptive and conceptual snapshot of ongoing transitions of paradoxically stable cannabis cultures It was originally published as a special issue of Drugs Education Prevention and Policy

Transnational Environmental Crime Rob White, 2017-07-05 The essays selected for this volume illustrate the growing interest in and importance of crime that is both environmental and transnational in nature The topics covered range from pollution and waste to biodiversity and wildlife crimes and from the violation of human rights associated with the exploitation of natural resources through to the criminogenic implications of climate change The collection provides insight into the nature and dynamics of this type of crime and examines in detail who is harmed and what can be done about it Differential victimisation and contemporary developments in environmental law enforcement are also considered Collectively these essays lay the foundations for a criminology that is forward looking global in its purview and that deals with the key environmental issues of the present age Radical and Marxist Theories of Crime Paul B. Stretesky, 2017-03-02 The essays selected for this volume show how radical and Marxist criminology has established itself as an influential critique since it emerged in the late 1960s Unlike orthodox criminology which emphasizes individual level explanations of criminal behavior radical and Marxist criminology emphasizes power inequality and structures especially those related to class as key factors in crime law and justice This collection of essays draws attention to the way in which structural forces shape and influence both individual and institutional for example governmental behavior highlights neglected crime corporate governmental state corporate and environmental which causes more extensive damage than the street crimes examined by orthodox criminology and discusses the ways in which law and criminal justice processes reinforce power structures and contribute to class control

The Routledge International Handbook on Narrative and Life History Ivor Goodson, Ari Antikainen, Pat Sikes, Molly Andrews, 2016-10-04 In recent decades there has been a substantial turn towards narrative and life history study The embrace of narrative and life history work has accompanied the move to postmodernism and post structuralism across a wide range of disciplines sociological studies gender studies cultural studies social history literary theory and most recently psychology Written by leading international scholars from the main contributing perspectives and disciplines The Routledge International Handbook on Narrative and Life History seeks to capture the range and scope as well as the considerable complexity of the field of narrative study and life history work by situating these fields of study within the historical and contemporary context Topics covered include The historical emergences of life history and narrative study Techniques for conducting life history and narrative study Identity and politics Generational history Social and psycho social approaches to narrative history With chapters from expert contributors this volume will prove a comprehensive and authoritative resource to students researchers and educators interested in narrative theory analysis and interpretation Family Troubles? Jane Ribbens McCarthy, Carol-Ann Hooper, Val Gillies, 2014-10-15 As the everyday family lives of children and young people come to be increasingly defined as matters of public policy and concern it is important to raise the question of how we can understand the contested terrain between normal family troubles and troubled and troubling families In this important timely and thought provoking publication a wide range of contributors explore how troubles feature in normal families and how the normal features in troubled families Drawing on research on a wide range of substantive topics including infant care sibling conflict divorce disability illness migration and asylum seeking substance misuse violence kinship care and forced marriage the contributors aim to promote dialogue between researchers addressing mainstream family change and diversity in everyday lives and those specialising in specific problems which prompt professional interventions In tackling these contentious and difficult issues across a variety of topics the book addresses a wide audience including policy makers service users and practitioners as well as family studies scholars more generally who are interested in issues of family change
