Soldiers And Societies In Post Communist Europe Legitimacy And Change:

Soldiers and Societies in Postcommunist Europe A. Forster, T. Edmunds, 2003-09-08 This major comparative study examines the development of military society relations in central and eastern Europe since the collapse of communism. Soldiers and Societies in Post Communist Europe explores how the interaction of the common challenges of postcommunism and the diverse circumstances of individual countries are shaping patterns of military society relations in this changing region. Detailed country case studies written by international experts to a common analytical framework compare the experiences of Poland, the Czech Republic, Slovakia, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Romania, Bulgaria, Slovenia, Croatia, Yugoslavia, and Ukraine. Civil-Military Relations in Post-Communist Europe Timothy Edmunds, Andrew Cottey, Anthony Forster, 2013-10-18 Fifteen years after the fall of communism we are able to appraise the results of the multi-faceted postcommunist transition in Central and Eastern Europe with authority. This volume specifically addresses the fascinating area of Civil Military relations throughout this transitional period. The countries of the region inherited a onerous legacy in this area: their armed forces were part of the communist party state system and most were oriented towards Cold War missions; they were large in size and supported by high levels of defence spending and they were based on universal male conscription. Central and eastern European states have thus faced a three-fold civil military reform challenge: establishing democratic and civilian control over their armed forces; implementing organisational reform to meet the security and foreign policy demands of the new era; and redefining military bases for legitimacy in society. This volume assesses the experiences of Poland, Hungary, Latvia, Romania, Croatia, Serbia, Montenegro, Ukraine, and Russia in these areas. Collectively, these countries illustrate the way in which the interaction of broadly similar postcommunist challenges and distinct national contexts have combined to produce a wide variety of different patterns of civil military relations. This book was previously published as a special issue of European Security. Soldiers and Societies in Post-communist Europe: Legitimacy and Change A. FORSTER, 2001 Security, Democracy and War Crimes J. Gow, I. Zverzhanovski, 2013-10-23 This book examines how the war crime legacy resulting from the Yugoslav war of the 1990s on political and military transformation in Serbia was an impediment to security reform, democratization, and the achievement of Western standards in the Belgrade armed forces. The Ukrainian Crisis Tracey German, Emmanuel Karagiannis, 2018-12-07 The conflict in eastern Ukraine continues with little sign of a negotiated resolution. Crimea has been absorbed into the Russian Federation and celebrates the third anniversary of its integration in March 2017. The ongoing nature of the conflict contrasts with a lack of academic exploration of the issues surrounding it. To date, most analyses have focused on the geopolitical implications of the Ukrainian crisis, such as the impact on NATO, Russia relations, and foreign policy responses to the crisis from a variety of state and supranational actors, including the EU and Russia. The role of sub-state and non-state actors and implications for them has been largely overlooked. This volume seeks to rectify this by examining a wide array of non-state and sub-state actors that have both played a role in the conflict in Ukraine and been indirectly impacted by it      Breaking Ranks Michael Martin, 2016-10-06

In the late 1980s the army crisis was dominating headlines in Ireland. Complaints of poor pay, low morale and unsatisfactory conditions for those serving in the Defence Forces were growing louder against the background of a government accused of being indifferent and an army hierarchy accused of being incapable. From amidst the turmoil a group of women stepped up to pursue the rights of their men. Political crisis and a general election followed but a commission established to examine the Defence Forces ignored the call for soldiers to acquire their own representative body. This book reveals for the first time the deep seated philosophies, tensions and reservations between Ireland's military and its government from the foundation of the State to the present day. It explores in detail the events that led to the successful pursuit of the democratic right of association for members of the armed forces in Ireland. It articulates the concept of the citizen in uniform and the special relationship between members of the armed forces and society. This is the story of the breaking of ranks      Bibliography of Sources on the Region of Former Yugoslavia Volume III Rusko Matulić, 1998      Defence Reform in Croatia and Serbia--Montenegro Timothy Edmunds, 2013-09-13

This book examines defence reform in Croatia and Serbia Montenegro since 2000 focussing particularly on the institution and consolidation of democratic and civilian control of the armed forces, the reform of conflict era forces structures and the influence of the West including defence assistance and political conditionality      Security sector reform in transforming societies Timothy Edmunds, 2018-07-30

This book is about the relationship between societies and their security forces at times of great political and societal change. It uses the experiences of Croatia, Serbia and Montenegro to examine the control, management and reform of armed forces, police and intelligence agencies in the aftermath of conflict and authoritarianism. The book assesses the theory and practice of security sector reform programmes in the context of Europe and the Western Balkans, the relationship between security sector reform and normative international policy more generally and the broader dynamics of post conflict and post authoritarian transformation. In so doing it addresses two underlying questions. First, how and in what ways does reform in the security sector interrelate with processes of domestic political and societal transformation, particularly democratisation. Second, how and in what ways do these processes relate and respond to internationally driven efforts to promote a particular type of security sector reform as a component of wider peacebuilding and democracy promotion strategies      Historical Dictionary of Modern Coups d'état John J. Chin, Joseph Wright, David B. Carter, 2022-12-13

For readers interested in international relations, politics and global issues. Library Journal Starred Review. The Historical Dictionary of Modern Coups d'état surveys the history of coups d'état in the post World War II period. The term 'modern' in the title therefore demarcates the period since January 1946. This book documents over 582 coup attempts that have occurred in 108 different countries worldwide over a period of 75 years. Historical Dictionary of Modern Coups d'état contains a chronology, an introduction and an extensive bibliography. The dictionary section has more than 1,400 cross referenced dictionary entries. This book is an excellent resource for students and researchers      Turkey and European Security Defence Policy Çigdem Üstün, 2010-11-30 Security perceptions in Europe have changed drastically in the last decade due to the effects of globalisation As a result the EU's relations with Turkey and the security policies of the EU and Turkey have become increasingly important In light of recent developments not least the controversial issue of Turkey's EU candidacy this book attempts to answer two main questions Is there a gap between EU and Turkish security cultures and To what extent is Turkey an advantage for Europe Cigdem Ustun here examines Turkey's crucial role with NATO and details its relations and priorities in the Mediterranean the Middle East and the Black Sea regions comparing these with EU relations and priorities This comparison illustrates the advantages and disadvantages of including Turkey in European security policies and will be essential reading for all those involved in security studies and policy

War, Identity and the Liberal State Victoria Basham, 2013-07-24 This book critically examines the significance of gender race and sexuality to wars waged by liberal states Drawing on original field research with British soldiers it offers insights into how their everyday experiences are shaped by and shape a politics of gender race and sexuality that not only underpins power relations in the military but the geopolitics of wars waged by liberal states Linking the politics of daily life to the international is an intervention into international relations IR and security studies because instead of overlooking the politics of the everyday this book insists that it is vital to explore how geopolitical events and practices are co constituted reinforced and contested by it By utilising insights from Michel Foucault the book explores how shared and collectively mediated knowledge on gender race and sexuality facilitates certain claims about the nature of governing in liberal states and about why and how such states wage war against illiberal ones in pursuit of global peace and security The book also develops post structural work in international relations by urging scholars interested in the linguistic construction of geopolitics to consider the ways in which bodies objects and architectures also reinforce particular ideas about war identity and statehood

The Challenge of Military Reform in Postcommunist Europe A. Forster, T. Edmunds, 2002-10-23 This major comparative study examines the challenges faced by countries of postcommunist Europe in reforming and professionalizing their armed forces It explores how the interaction of the common challenges of postcommunism and the diverse circumstances of individual countries are shaping professionalization processes in this changing region The detailed country case studies in this volume written by leading experts to a common analytical framework compare the experiences of Poland the Czech Republic Slovakia Hungary Latvia Lithuania Romania Bulgaria Slovenia Croatia FRY Russia and Ukraine

Democratic Civil-military Relations Sabine Mannitz, 2012 This book examines the ways in which European democracies including former communist states are dealing with the new demands placed on their security policies since the cold war by transforming their military structures and the effects this is having on the conceptualisation of soldiering In the new security environment democratic states have called upon their armed forces increasingly to fulfil unconventional tasks partly civilian partly humanitarian and partly military in most complex multi national missions Not only have military structures been transformed to make them fit for these new types of deployments but the new mission types highlight the necessity for democracies to come to terms with a new image and ethos of soldiering in defence of a transnational value community Combining a qualitative comparison of twelve countries with an interdisciplinary methodology this edited volume argues that the ongoing transformations of international politics make it necessary for democracies to address both internal and external factors as they shape their own civil military relations The issues discussed in this work are informed by Democratic Peace theory which makes it possible to investigate relations within the state at the same time as analysing the international dimension This approach gives the book a systematic theoretical framework which distinguishes it from the majority of existing literature on this subject This book will be of much interest to students of civil military relations European politics democratisation and post communist transitions and IR in general

Armed Forces and Society in Europe A. Forster, 2005-10-31 In the post Cold War era European militaries are engaged in an ongoing adaptation which is challenging relations between armed forces and the societies that they serve This book offers an innovative conceptual framework to critically evaluate contemporary civil military relations across the continent of Europe It analyzes eight key issues in armed forces and society relations to explore the scale and intensity of these changes The

Militarization of Childhood J. Beier, 2011-11-16 In its various manifestations the campaign to end child soldiering has brought graphic images of militarized children to popular consciousness In the main this has been a campaign that has seemed to speak to African contexts without as much reflection on the myriad ways in which the lives of children are militarized in advanced post industrial societies Proceeding from this quite striking omission the contributors to this volume move beyond the usual focus on the global South Making what will be an important contribution to a much needed critical turn in the vast and still rapidly growing child soldier literature they address multifarious ways in which childhood is militarized beyond the global South through enactments of militarism that have drawn much less in the way of critical inquiry

Electoral Systems and Political Transformation in Post-Communist Europe S. Birch, 2003-11-25 Electoral Systems and Political Transformation in Post Communist Europe assesses the influence of electoral systems on political change in 20 post communist European states The main finding is that electoral institutions have systematic effects on the formation of representative structures Party enabling aspects of electoral laws such as list proportional representation tend to foster popular inclusion in politics and institutionalized party systems whereas politician enabling rules such as single member districts and ballots that allow voters to select individuals often favour the development of weakly structured systems and high levels of popular exclusion from the representative process The Routledge Handbook of Civil-military Relations

Thomas C. Bruneau, Florina Cristiana Matei, 2013 The Routledge Handbook of Civil Military Relations not only fills this important lacuna but offers an up to date comparative analysis which identifies three essential components in civil military relations 1 democratic civilian control 2 operational effectiveness and 3 the efficiency of the security institutions This

Handbook will be essential reading for students and practitioners in the fields of civil military relations      Europeanization and Regionalization in the EU's Enlargement to Central and Eastern Europe J. Hughes, G. Sasse, 2004-10-12 This book is a study of EU conditionality and compliance during the enlargement to the Central and Eastern European candidate countries EU conditionality for membership is widely understood as having been a driving force for Europeanization providing incentives and sanctions for compliance or non compliance with EU norms such as the Copenhagen Criteria and the adoption of the acquis communautaire By taking regional policy and regionalization as a case study this book provides a comparative analysis of the effects of conditionality on the Central and East European countries and explores the many paradoxes and weaknesses in the use of EU conditionality over time      The Construction of Liberal Democracy Jack J. Porter, 2010 Rogue and failed states present numerous security challenges to the United States and the rest of the international community Not only do these states offer refuge and at times assistance to violent nonstate actors such as terrorist organizations and pirate syndicates their continued inability to respond to citizens needs and unwillingness to respect human dignity establish the foundations for ongoing regional and global instability With this challenge in mind current U S and international foreign and security policy is directed at assisting these fragile communities in their efforts at democratic state and nation building The primary focus of this analysis is a detailed examination of two earlier and successful efforts at democratization the Federal Republic of Germany and South Africa paying particular attention to the role of civil military institutions After outlining the substantial theoretical and practical obstacles confronting these states the monograph highlights the potential roles that the new armed forces can play in the democratic transition and consolidation phases The analysis concludes with a number of policy recommendations and suggestions for those involved in these formidable and critical efforts
