Social Impact Analysis And Development Planning In The Third World William Derman, Scott Whiteford, 2019-06-26 Although national governments and international agencies have committed vast sums of money to development many projects have not only failed to improve the lives of the poor but in some cases have created additional social and economic problems Such failures can often be traced to an inadequate understanding of the socio cultural reality of the people most directly affected and to a lack of their participation in project planning implementation and evaluation In this collection of essays scholars and practitioners from diverse disciplines examine many of the perplexing social issues of development planning from the perspective of social impact analysis Drawing on national regional and local case studies the authors demonstrate why sociocultural factors are seldom adequately understood and discuss how they can be effectively incorporated into the planning process Understanding Comparative Politics Mehran Kamrava, 2002-11-01

Comparative politics has undergone significant theoretical changes in recent decades Particularly since the 1980s a new generation of scholars have revamped and rejuvenated the study of the subject Mehran Kamrava examines current and past approaches to the study of comparative politics and proposes a new framework for analysis This is achieved through a comparative examination of state and social institutions the interactions that occur between them and the political cultures within which they operate The book also offers a concise and detailed synthesis of existing comparative frameworks that up to now at least have encountered analytical shortcomings on their own Although analytically different in its arguments and emphasis from the current Mainstream genre of literature on comparative politics the present study is a logical outgrowth of the scholarly works of the last decade or so It will be essential reading for all students of comparative politics
