Smile Please:

UNTANGLES RHYMES NANCY SHARMA, 2020-10-04 Mississippi Writers Dorothy Abbott, 1986-05 Nonfiction recounting the experience of growing up in the Deep South HeartSpills Yasmin Khan, Heartspills is a book inked by soulful writers who spilled their hearts out and weaved their words in the form of articles, poems, short stories, and quotes. Everybody here owns a unique writing style for they are from different parts of India, thus representing the diversity.
The theme is open and contains a portrayal of love, heartbreak, art, freedom, travel, expression, nature, and everything in between.
This anthology undoubtedly provides a platform to the budding writers to telecast their talents and gives wings to their dreams of being a published co-author. □□□ Yutaka Sato, Margaret Yoriko Yamashita, 1992. Developed at the University of Hawaii's National Foreign Language Centre as a communicative approach to learning a notoriously difficult language for Westerners. It features Vocabulary and grammatical patterns are reinforced and expanded through spiralling review exercises. Guided conversations, interviews, and suggested activities are emphasised. Cultural notes and culturally accurate illustrations enhance the students' Japanese language learning experience. Wounded Images Kristine M.
Whaley, 2024-03-27. This volume works through deconstructing traditional models of the imago Dei in search of a more inclusive understanding of the doctrine, one that allows for literature to bring important questions to bear. Brief analyses of Karl Barth and Paul Tillich and then growing dissatisfaction with the two in various liberation theologies brings to light the problems of a perfected image of God. An exploration of four novels by Jean Rhys between 1928 and 1939 then follows the footsteps of Katie Cannon and others who include literature in their theological work. The Rhys novels follow tragic stories of women who are wounded both by others and by their own inability to see themselves as worthy. Through the questions these women ask about themselves and God, the reconstruction of the imago Dei is set up. This reconstruction centers trauma, wounds, and a non-contrastive transcendence that Kathryn Tanner defines. Ultimately, it is not in how we are perfect but rather through our risks, our wounds, and even our grief that we connect to God. Journeying and Journalling Giselle Bastin, 2010. In December 2004, the town of Penneshaw, Kangaroo Island, provided the backdrop for an international conference titled Journeying and Journalling. The conference created a space for creative and critical meditations on travel writing. Collectively, the essays in this collection provide a snapshot of current directions and preoccupations in contemporary travel writing scholarship. They function as a reminder of the work that has been done on representations of Indigeneity and of writing marginalised narratives into the travel canon. However, these chapters also remind us of the important work that remains, particularly in relation to travel writing as a form of reconciliation, for example, between Indigenous people and colonisers, and between colonisers and neo-colonials. Scholars also bear the responsibility of considering the complexities of representing culture and place in a post-colonial, even post-traumatic world. This collection includes essays by Tim Youngs, Helen Tiffin, and Paul Sharra, and many other leading writers in the field of travel writing. Smile Please Jean Rhys, 1983

The Recovering Leslie Jamison,2018-04-03 From the New York Times bestselling author of The Empathy Exams comes this transformative work showing that sometimes the recovery is more gripping than the addiction With its deeply personal and seamless blend of memoir cultural history literary criticism and reportage The Recovering turns our understanding of the traditional addiction narrative on its head demonstrating that the story of recovery can be every bit as electrifying as the train wreck itself Leslie Jamison deftly excavates the stories we tell about addiction both her own and others and examines what we want these stories to do and what happens when they fail us All the while she offers a fascinating look at the larger history of the recovery movement and at the complicated bearing that race and class have on our understanding of who is criminal and who is ill At the heart of the book is Jamison s ongoing conversation with literary and artistic geniuses whose lives and works were shaped by alcoholism and substance dependence including John Berryman Jean Rhys Billie Holiday Raymond Carver Denis Johnson and David Foster Wallace as well as brilliant lesser known figures such as George Cain lost to obscurity but newly illuminated here Through its unvarnished relation of Jamison s own ordeals The Recovering also becomes a book about a different kind of dependency the way our desires can make us all as she puts it broken spigots of need It s about the particular loneliness of the human experience the craving for love that both devours us and shapes who we are For her striking language and piercing observations Jamison has been compared to such iconic writers as Joan Didion and Susan Sontag yet her utterly singular voice also offers something new With enormous empathy and wisdom Jamison has given us nothing less than the story of addiction and recovery in America writ large a definitive and revelatory account that will resonate for years to come

Transnational Jean Rhys Juliana Lopoukhine,Frédéric Regard,Kerry-Jane Wallart,2020-12-10 This volume investigates the frameworks that can be applied to reading Caribbean author Jean Rhys While Wide Sargasso Sea famously displays overt forms of literary influences Jean Rhys s entire oeuvre is so fraught with connections to other texts and textual practices across geographical boundaries that her classification as a cosmopolitan modernist writer is due for reassessment Transnational Jean Rhys argues against the relative isolationism that is sometimes associated with Rhys s writing by demonstrating both how she was influenced by a wide range of foreign especially French authors and how her influence was in turn disseminated in myriad directions Including an interview with

Black Atlantic novelist Caryl Phillips this collection charts new territories in the influences on of an author known for her dislike of literary coteries but whose literary communality has been underestimated
