The battle of Britishness Tony Kushner, 2017-10-03 This pioneering study of migrant journeys to Britain begins with Huguenot refugees in the 1680s and continues to asylum seekers and east European workers today Analyzing the history and memory of migrant journeys covering not only the response of politicians and the public but also literary and artistic representations then and now Kushner's volume sheds new light on the nature and construction of Britishness from the early modern era onwards It is an essential tool for those wanting to understand why people come to Britain or are denied entry and how migrants have been viewed by state and society alike The journeys covered vary from the famous including the Empire Windrush in 1948 to the obscure such as the Volga German transmigrants passing through Britain in the 1870s While employing a broadly historical approach Kushner incorporates insights from many other disciplines and employs a comparative methodology to highlight the importance of the symbolic as well as the physical nature of such journeys

John Bull's Island Colin Holmes, 2015-10-16 There is a strong but unreliable view that immigration is a marginal and recent phenomenon In fact immigrants and refugees have come to Britain throughout its recorded history In this book first published in 1988 Colin Holmes looks at this period in depth and asks who were the newcomers and why were they coming What were the distinctive features of their economic and social lives in Britain How did British society respond to their presence The resulting book is a major historical survey of immigration which synthesises and evaluates existing work and weaves in new material on a wide range of immigrant minorities

The Politics of Expertise Matthew Hilton, James McKay, Nicholas Crowson, Jean-François Mouhot, 2013-04-25 The Politics of Expertise offers a challenging new interpretation of politics in contemporary Britain through an examination of non governmental organisations Using specific case studies of the homelessness environment and international aid and development sectors it demonstrates how politics and political activism has changed over the last half century NGOs have contributed enormously to a professionalization and a privatization of politics emerging as a new form of expert knowledge and political participation They have been led by a new breed of non party politician working in collaboration and in competition with government Skilful navigators of the modern technocratic state they have brought expertise to expertise and in so doing have changed the nature of grassroots activism As affluent citizens have felt marginalised by the increasingly complex nature of many policy solutions they have made the rational calculation to support NGOs the professionalism and resources of which make them better able to tackle complex problems Yet in doing so support rather than participation becomes the more appropriate way to describe the relationship of the public to NGOs As voter turnout has declined membership and trust in NGOs has increased But NGOs are very different types of organisations from the classic democratic institutions of political parties and the labour movement They maintain different and varied relationships with the publics they seek to represent Attracting mass support has provided them with the resources and the legitimacy to speak to power on a bewildering range of issues yet perhaps the ultimate victors in this new form of politics are the NGOs themselves
