Houston Johnson,2019-02-21 Taking Flight explores the emergence of commercial aviation between the world wars and in the midst of the Great Depression to show that the industry s dramatic growth resulted from a unique combination of federal policy technological innovations and public interest in air travel Historian M Houston Johnson V traces the evolution of commercial flying from the US Army s trial airmail service in the spring of 1918 to the passage of the pivotal Air Commerce Act of 1938 Johnson emphasizes the role of federal policy particularly as guided by both Herbert Hoover and Franklin Roosevelt to reveal the close working relationship between federal officials and industry leaders as well as an increasing dependence on federal assistance by airline airframe and engine manufacturers Taking Flight highlights the federal government s successful efforts to foster a nascent industry in the midst of an economic crisis without resorting to nationalization a path taken by virtually all European countries during the same era It also underscores an important point of continuity between Hoover s policies and Roosevelt s New Deal a sharp departure from many interpretations of Depression era business history and shows how both governmental and corporate actors were able to harness America s ongoing fascination with flying to further a larger economic agenda and facilitate the creation of the world s largest and most efficient commercial aviation industry This glimpse into the golden age of flight contributes not only to the history of aviation but also to the larger history of the United States during the Great Depression and the period between the world wars

Taking Forward the Primary Curriculum Roy

Blatchford, 2013-10-01 This book has a simple intent In September 2014 primary schools in England will be expected to adopt a new National Curriculum There is good time to prepare and this book shows you how At this point of curriculum change and evolution in England's primary schools a number of contributors have offered their reflections on how primary schools across the country might take forward and shape their own curriculum framework for pupils The spirit of the book is based on considerable leadership experience in schools letting a thousand flowers bloom rather than recommending a one size fits all approach The authors' reflections come from varying perspectives teachers headteachers directors of foundations and leading thinkers on education each of whom is involved in the work of the National Education Trust www.nationaleducationtrust.net an independent charitable foundation which champions best practice Contributors include Kate Atkins Roy Blatchford Tim Coulson Kate Dethridge Professor Deborah Eyre Kate Frood Dr Neil Hawkes Richard Howard Peter Hyman Pamela Matty Chris Nourse Katy Peters Laurence Pitt Will Power Jane Ratcliffe Dave Smith Rob Stokoe Kathy

Wood Chris Yapp The contributors are people who understand the realities of primary education yet retain that spark of imagination and creativity about what might be possible The book will provide that most important of opportunities to share good practice and debate with others I ve no doubt that minds and opinions will be changed by these contributions Estelle Morris former Secretary of State for Education and Skills
