The Social Engagement of Social Science, Volume 2 Eric Trist, Hugh Murray, Dr. Hugh Murray, Frederick Edmund Emery, 1990 World War II brought together a group of psychiatrists and clinical and social psychologists in the British Army where they developed radical action oriented innovations in social psychiatry They became known as the Tavistock Group since the core members had been at the pre war Tavistock Clinic They created the post war Tavistock Institute of Human Relations and expanded on their wartime achievements by pioneering a new mode of relating theory and practice called in these volumes The Social Engagement of Social Science There are three perspectives the socio psychological the socio technical and the socio ecological These perspectives are interdependent yet each has its own focus and is represented in a separate volume The Institute's dynamic social science approach to industrial problems presented in this second volume began with Eric Trist's coal mining program for the development of more productive and personally satisfying self regulating forms of work organization The whole Quality of Life movement owes its theoretical and empirical basis to this pathfinding endeavor Volume I The Socio Psychological Perspective extended the object relations approach in psychoanalysis to group organizational and wider social life This extension is related to field theory the personality culture approach and open systems theory Action oriented papers deal with key ideas in social psychiatry varieties of group process new paths in family studies the dynamics of organizational change and the unconscious in culture and society Volume III will focus on non hierarchical forms of organization facilitating inter organizational relations in complex and rapidly changing environments the socio ecological perspective This perspective is offered as a guide to institution building for the future Social Studies of Science Bernard Barber, 1990-01-01 One of the first and premier specialists in the sociology of science presents seventeen published and unpublished essays in Social Studies of Science This rich volume is introduced by a long essay The Multiple Diverse and Unexpected Origins of the Sociology of Science a sociological analysis of the fifty years of development of what has finally become the fully realized field of the sociology of science Barber's personal connection with this development makes this analytical essay a vivid contribution to the history of sociology Structure, Interaction and Social Theory (RLE Social Theory) Derek Layder, 2014-08-21 A central problem in contemporary social theory is that of providing an account of social interaction that does justice both to the self monitoring capacities of the individuals involved and to the society that frames the interaction This book attempts to resolve this problem arguing for an objectivist or structuralist account which does not undervalue the importance of the indexical and negotiated aspects of interaction and which takes seriously the Marxist rationalist critique of empiricism and humanism and the associated idea that society should be treated as a supra individual preconstituted and constraining object of scientific analysis First Dr Layder pinpoints certain of the strengths and weaknesses of various schools of thought social psychology scrutinized in both its sociological and psychological forms sociology the Marxist rationalist approach Whilst rejecting the mechanistic or naively deterministic theories which are often associated with an objectivist stance he argues that the productive activities of situated actors must be understood as existing in an articulated relationship with and within sets of preconstituted contextual constraints This thesis is illustrated conceptually by the development of a framework which distinguishes two types and levels of social structure with different modes of production and reproduction and empirically by an analysis of aspects of interaction in the occupation of acting
