Jacqueline Waeber, 2025-05-20 Shows how poetic recitation and the interweaving of music and poetry contributed to the advent of a German identity in late eighteenth and early nineteenth century Europe The art of reciting a text out loud known as Vortragskunst be it in a private circle or in a concert hall originated in German speaking countries in the 1760s and by the nineteenth century had become a well established practice subjected to an artistic blossoming unparalleled in the rest of Europe In this book Jacqueline Waerber explains and examines how and why this happened focusing on the origins of poetic recitation and its development during the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries a period essential to the development of modern German literature and theatre bookended by the two main figures who contributed to the theoretical and aesthetical tenets of poetic recitation the poet Friedrich Gottlieb Klopstock 1724 1803 and Johann Wolfgang von Goethe 1749 1832 Poetic recitation quickly gained attraction for the Lied and the musical melodrama both musical genres that were driven by a search for new declamatory styles As a result poetic recitation became increasingly musicalized by the frequent addition of a musical accompaniment As the book shows this intertwining of music and poetry made a huge contribution to the advent of German identity through the reappraisal of its language
