Speckled People:

The Speckled People Hugo Hamilton, 2011-10-04 Adapted for the stage from the best selling memoir The Speckled People tells a profoundly moving story of a young boy trapped in a language war Set in 1950s Ireland this is a gripping poignant and at times very funny family drama of homesickness control and identity As a young boy Hugo Hamilton struggles with what it means to be speckled half and half Irish on top and German below An idealistic Irish father enforces his cultural crusade by forbidding his son to speak English while his German mother tries to rescue him with her warm hearted humour and uplifting industry The boy must free himself from his father and from bullies on the street who persecute him with taunts of Nazism Above all he must free himself from history and from the terrible secrets of his mother and father before he can find a place where he belongs Surrounded by fear guilt and frequently comic cultural entanglements Hugo tries to understand the differences between Irish history and German history and to turn the strange logic of what he is told into truth It is a journey that ends in liberation but not before the long buried secrets at the back of the parents wardrobe have been laid bare

German Diasporic Experiences Mathias Schulze, 2008-10-02 Co published with the Waterloo Centre for German Studies For centuries large numbers of German speaking people have emigrated from settlements in Europe to other countries and continents In German Diasporic Experiences Identity Migration and Loss more than forty international contributors describe and discuss aspects of the history language and culture of these migrant groups individuals and their descendants Part I focuses on identity with essays exploring the connections among language politics and the construction of histories national familial and personal in German speaking diasporic communities around the world Part II deals with migration examining such issues as German migrants in postwar Britain German refugees and forced migration and the immigrant as a fictional character among others Part III examines the idea of loss in diasporic experience with essays on nationalization language change or loss and the reshaping of cultural identity Essays are revised versions of papers presented at an international conference held at the University of Waterloo in August 2006 organized by the Waterloo Centre for German Studies and reflect the multidisciplinary and the global perspective of this field of study

Exploring Transculturalism Wolfgang Berg, Aoileann Ní Éigeartaigh, 2010-07-08 1 2 Culture and Identity in a Postmodern World Michel Foucault's statement that The present epoch

will perhaps be above all the epoch of space We are in the epoch of simultaneity we are in the epoch of juxtaposition M Foucault 1986 22 heralded a new approach to identity in the contemporary world by suggesting that one's identity is formed not as a result of the cultural and national values and history one has inherited but rather as a result of the different spaces through which one travels In other words one's identity is no longer perceived as an inherited construct but rather as something flexible that changes as one moves through the more fluid spaces of the contemporary globalized world and internalizes a mixture of the different cultures and ideas that one encounters The idealized contemporary traveller will thus effortlessly cross national and cultural borders and negotiate a constantly changing and flexible identity for himself Andy Bennett argues that it is no longer even possible to conceive of identity as a static entity forged from a communal history and value system because all of the traditional certainties on which identity formation were based in the past have been fatally undermined by a postmodernist flux and fluidity Once clearly demarcated by relatively static and ethnically homogenous communities the spaces and places of everyday life are now highly pluralistic and contested and are constantly being defined and redefined through processes of relocation and cultural hybridisation A A History of Irish Autobiography Liam Harte, 2018-03-01 A History of Irish Autobiography is the first ever critical survey of autobiographical self representation in Ireland from its recoverable beginnings to the twenty first century The book draws on a wealth of original scholarship by leading experts to provide an authoritative examination of autobiographical writing in the English and Irish languages Beginning with a comprehensive overview of autobiography theory and criticism in Ireland the History guides the reader through seventeen centuries of Irish achievement in autobiography a category that incorporates diverse literary forms from religious tracts and travelogues to letters diaries and online journals This ambitious book is rich in insight Chapters are structured around key subgenres themes texts and practitioners each featuring a guide to recommended further reading The volume's extensive coverage is complemented by a detailed chronology of Irish autobiography from the fifth century to the contemporary era the first of its kind to be published Ancient and Modern Britons David MacRitchie, 1884 Ireland, Literature, and the Coast Nicholas Allen, 2020 Ireland is home to one of the world's great literary and artistic traditions This book reads Irish literature and art in context of the island's coastal and maritime cultures setting a diverse range of writing and visual art in a fluid panorama of liquid associations that connect Irish literature to an archipelago of other times and places Linguae & - Rivista di Lingue e Culture Moderne - 1/2011 AA.VV., Lingu is a peer reviewed journal which provides a new outlet for interdisciplinary research on language and literature giving voice to a cross cultural and multi genre koine While the idea for the journal was developed in the ambit of the post graduate programme in European Intercultural Studies at the University of Urbino Italy its scope goes far beyond that of exploring pre established cultural paradigms Indeed its strongly experimental and dialogic approach to the ongoing debate should serve as encouragement for the submission of new work by young researchers Literary visions of multicultural Ireland Pilar

Villar-Argaiz, 2016-05-16 Now available in paperback this pioneering collection of essays deals with the topic of how Irish literature responds to the presence of non Irish immigrants in Celtic Tiger and post Celtic Tiger Ireland The book assembles an international group of 18 leading and prestigious academics in the field of Irish studies from both sides of the Atlantic including Declan Kiberd Anne Fogarty and Maureen T Reddy amongst others Key areas of discussion are what does it mean to be multicultural and what are the implications of this condition for contemporary Irish writers How has literature in Ireland responded to inward migration Have Irish writers reflected in their work either explicitly or implicitly the existence of migrant communities in Ireland If so are elements of Irish traditional culture and community maintained or transformed What is the social and political efficacy of these intercultural artistic visions

Speckled People : Delia Owens "Where the Crawdads Sing" This mesmerizing coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens crafts a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, entrancing readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a exceptional and gripping novel that will keep you speculating until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
