The Mars Millennium Project ,1999 New Architecture and Urbanism Saswati Chetia,Deependra Prashad,2010-01-08 This book on New Architecture and Urbanism Development of Indian Traditions builds on the contributions from various architects planners educationists decision makers others from across the world who gathered together to create a forum for the promotion of traditional processes and techniques for the creation of the built environment This forum was initiated by INTBAU India The International Network for Traditional Building Architecture and Urbanism in India and supported by The Nabha Foundation This book presents the arguments axioms and case studies related to Traditional Architecture and Urbanism in a sequential format Firstly it examines the New ways of looking at Heritage by separating it from pure history into a living and evolving process The book looks at what defines traditional methods and their relevance to the contemporary context It also examines the aspects of Continuity and Contextual frameworks in the built environment The section on Sustainable Buildings Places and Communities explores the many facets of locally driven processes from the viewpoint of tradition and sustainability These include many community based planning methods and their applications in shaping the built environment aspects of environmental sustainability and on how appropriateness could be ingrained into current architectural education Lastly the book delves into a number of executed examples in architecture seeking to learn from tradition and examples in place making urbanism which in turn promotes humane walkable and connected neighbourhoods

Organization Structure and Design Aquinas,2008-09-30 In today s globalised era e commerce outsourcing and telecommuting have become the new paradigm for organizational functioning Co workers located at different places countries are connected with each other through internet This book is written in the context of these emerging workplace realities and seeks to present a realistic view of people working in organizations A consistent theme throughout the book is that the effective management of organizations requires an understanding of theory research and practice To engage the students in the modern world of organizations this book incorporates a number of distinctive time tested and interesting features such as Corporate Insights cases at the end of each chapter and numerous review and discussion questions to enhance their learning and interest This book is organised and presented in a sequence based on the characteristics common to organizations: Structure and Processes The book is divided into six parts Part A deals with organization and its environment Part B elucidates organization as a system Part C illustrates job and the design of work Part D deals with the dynamic aspects of organization Part E offers information on the emerging concepts of organization structure and design and Part F is the concluding part of the book that discusses organizational culture and ethical values The book presents the new realities that are not just for managers but for anyone who works in an organization

Sixty Million Frenchmen Can't be Wrong Jean-Benoit Nadeau, 2014-11-12 The French drink smoke and eat more fat than anyone in the world yet they live longer and have fewer heart problems than the English and the Americans They work 35 hour weeks and take seven weeks paid holiday each year yet they are the world's fourth biggest economic power So how do they do it From a distance modern France looks like a riddle It is both rigidly authoritarian yet incredibly inventive traditional even archaic yet modern lacking clout on the international stage yet still hugely influential But with the observations anecdotes and analysis of the authors who spent nearly three years living in France it begins to make sense Sixty Million Frenchmen Can't Be Wrong is a journey into the French heart mind and soul This book reveals French ideas about land food privacy and language and weaves together the threads of French society uncovering the essence of life in France and giving for the first time a complete picture of the French

Expanding Boundaries: Systems Thinking in the Built Environment Guillaume Habert, Arno Schlueter, 2016-08-15 Consuming over 40% of total primary energy the built environment is in the centre of worldwide strategies and measures towards a more sustainable future To provide resilient solutions a simple optimisation of individual technologies will not be sufficient In contrast whole system thinking reveals and exploits connections between parts Each system interacts with others on different scales materials components buildings cities and domains ecology economy and social Whole system designers optimize the performance of such systems by understanding interconnections and identifying synergies The more complete the design integration the better the result In this book the reader will find the proceedings of the 2016 Sustainable Built Environment SBE Regional Conference in Zurich Papers have been written by academics and practitioners from all continents to bring forth the latest understanding on systems thinking in the built environment

Built Environments, Constructed Societies Benjamin N. Vis, 2009 Archaeology as the discipline that searches to explain the development of society by means of material remains has been avoiding the big issues involved with its research agenda The topic of social evolution is concealed by anxiety about previous paradigmatic malpractice and the primary archaeological division of the world in culture areas still suffers from the archaic methods by which it was established Archaeological inference of developing societies is weighed down by its choice of particularism within agency approaches and overtly reductionist due to the prevalence of statistical classificatory and biological approaches This book addresses these issues through a perspective on the spatial analysis of the built environment As one of the principal properties of our dataset as well as being the first materialisation of sociality such spatialities are suggested to be a fundamental key for enabling an understanding of the developing social identity of places regions and areas In order to arrive at a truly social inference of spatial datasets archaeology's usual analysis working from material remains towards socio cultural interpretations needs to be inverted The vantage point of this study consists of aprioristic social theory It constructs its arguments through an epistemological foundation comprising a selection of essential ideas regarding the three constitutive axes of developing societies time human action and human space As it recognises the inherent position of these axes combined in the discipline of human geography a historical comparison of these two disciplines presents the angle from which plausible theoretical advancements can be made The core of the book explores selected works of human geographers Allan Pred Benno Werlen and Andreas Koch against the backdrop of theories like structuration or systems theory phenomenology action theory and to a lesser extent Actor Network Theory and autopoiesis From this follows its own theoretical proposal called the social positioning of spatialities On this basis hypotheses for methodological opportunities are discussed establishing a research agenda Firmly placing its efforts in current paradigmatic debates in the discipline this study offers archaeological theorists an incentive to leave the safety of materially bound science and adapt an alternative perspective It is an attempt to put archaeology back in the forefront of the social theoretical debates it should contribute to

Green Energy Economies John Byrne, Young-Doo Wang, 2017-09-08

Green Energy Economies offers insight into the major drivers that are shaping a new future powered by clean energy sources Assembling cutting edge researchers as contributors the book provides a comprehensive account of the shift underway examining in detail the complexities and intricacies involved with such a transition The book first details the promises and problems of a green energy transition Next it explores the economic benefits that a comprehensive strategy toward a green energy economy might create Then it investigates how communities will be affected and explores the social cultural and other changes that are likely to result Finally it explores the shift toward new technologies in depth Green Energy Economies concludes with policy options that support a transition to a better energy environmental and economic future The contributors argue that a green energy economy offers great promise but its realization will require making hard choices and soon They argue for investments in renewable energy and economic systems that can deliver a sustainable and equitable future This book makes a forceful case for a green future
