The Struggle for Survival Eliot Janeway, 1951 The Struggle for Survival Eliot Janeway, 1968 The Day of Sir Wilfrid Laurier: A Chronicle of Our Own Time Oscar Douglas Skelton, 2021-08-31 In The Day of Sir Wilfrid Laurier A Chronicle of Our Own Time Oscar Douglas Skelton presents a comprehensive and textured examination of the life and political career of Canada's seventh Prime Minister Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The book employs a balanced narrative style that weaves historical facts with personal anecdotes capturing the essence of Laurier's contributions to the development of Canadian national identity during a pivotal era. Skelton's prose is both accessible and scholarly, reflective of early 20th century historiography as it engages with themes of nationalism, immigration and governance amid a changing geopolitical landscape. Oscar Douglas Skelton, a prominent Canadian historian and civic leader, was deeply influenced by his own experiences in a diverse and multicultural Canada. His academic background, underscored by a keen awareness of political dynamics, equipped him to explore Laurier's legacy critically. Skelton's work not only honors Laurier's impact on Canada but also scrutinizes the complexities of his policies and the socio-political currents of the time, providing insights that resonate with contemporary discussions of leadership and identity. This book is an essential read for anyone interested in Canadian history, political science or the complex narrative of nationhood. Skelton's detailed analysis offers a rich understanding of Laurier's vision and legacy, making it a valuable addition to both scholarly collections and personal libraries.

To Fill the Skies with Pilots Dominick A. Pisano, 2014-06-03 Launched in 1939, the Civilian Pilot Training Program (CPTP) was one of the largest government-sponsored vocational education programs of its time. In To Fill the Skies with Pilots, Dominick A. Pisano explores the successes and failures of the program from its conception as a hybrid civilian-military mandate in peacetime through the war years and into the immediate postwar period. As originally conceived, the CPTP would serve both war preparedness goals and New Deal economic ends. Using the facilities of colleges, universities and commercial flying schools, the CPTP was designed to provide a pool of civilian pilots for military service in the event of war. The program also sought to give an economic boost to the light plane industry and the network of small airports and support services associated with civilian aviation. As Pisano demonstrates, the CPTP's multiple objectives ultimately contributed to its demise. Although the program did train tens of thousands of pilots who later flew during the war, mostly in noncombat missions, military leaders faulted the project for not being more in line with specific recruitment and training needs. After attempting to adjust to these needs, the CPTP then faced a difficult and ultimately unsuccessful transition back to civilian purposes in the postwar era. By charting the history of the CPTP, Pisano sheds new light on the politics of aviation during these pivotal years, as well as on civil-military relations and New Deal policy making.

The Science of Economic Development and Growth: The Theory of Factor Proportions C.C. Onyemelukwe, 2016-07-08 A theoretical framework aiming to facilitate study of development economics. The author presents his theory in three sections: how advanced nations developed, a proposed third dimension in
