Royal Navy Strategy in the Far East 1919-1939 Andrew Field, 2004-05-20 Between the ending of the Great War and the start of the Second World War in 1939 the Royal Navy remained the largest in the world But with the League of Nations seeming to offer a solution to all future conflicts a country weary of war and without an obvious enemy there seemed no need for a large battlefleet The strategic focus shifted eastwards to Japan with its growing battlefleet as the new threat to the British Empire and to the Royal Navy s supremacy From 1924 a strategic plan War Memorandum Eastern was written and refined The plan called for the Royal Navy still the largest in the world even after the Washington Naval Treaties to move eastwards to a defended base at Singapore cut off Japan and force her battlefleet into a decisive fleet battle As a strategy War Memorandum Eastern had many flaws Its real importance lay in the fact that it provided a justification for the Royal Navy to maintain its leading position in the world and to be in the forefront of the development of new tactical thinking Through planning for a war with Japan the Royal Navy was able to test its readiness for a future war Many of the lessons learnt during this period were ultimately put to good use against a different foe in 1939 Britain, Germany and the Battle of the Atlantic Dennis Haslop,2013-11-07 The length scale and intensity of the Battle of the Atlantic led the British and German navies to make substantial changes to their organisation strategy and tactics In this book Dennis Haslop examines the pivotal lessons learned and how these helped to determine the outcome of the Battle of the Atlantic Convoy War He questions how well adapted the two organisations were to learn from the conflict and how effective they were in identifying problems and producing remedies Based on the in depth analysis of British and German primary sources this study provides an innovative basis against which to assess the German and British approach to changing warfare and provides important new insights into aspects of convoy warfare in particular the virtually unknown subject of German Operational Research Dreadnought Gunnery and the Battle of Jutland John Brooks,2005-03-09 This new book reviews critically recent studies of fire control and describes the essentials of naval gunnery in the dreadnought era With a foreword by Professor Andrew Lambert it shows how in 1913 the Admiralty rejected Arthur Pollen s Argo system for the Dreyer fire control tables World War II at Sea Craig L.
