↑ Products for Retail & Private Banking

Global Overview: 2004 and beyond

Slower equity markets and a challenging structuring environment for capital protected products resulted in changes in the structured products markets in 2004:

- ✦ Structures putting capital at risk made a comeback in many European retail networks and private banks worldwide,
- ✦ Investor appetite for other asset classes like commodities, real estate or hedge funds boosted the development of hybrid products,
- ✦ Innovation was mostly seen in underlyings, nonetheless coupon-paying and auto-callable pay-offs developed significantly.

Judging by recent market trends, we can expect to see three major developments in the future:

- ✦ Greater search for yield across asset classes,
- ✦ Structured products for more and more specific needs,
- ✦ Partnerships between distributors and product manufacturers for large product issues.
