WiMoN 2010 and the Second International Conference on Web and Semantic Technology WeST 2010 were held in Chennai India during July 23-25, 2010. They attracted many local and international delegates presenting a balanced mixture of intellects from the East and from the West. The goal of these conferences is to bring together researchers and practitioners from academia and industry to focus on understanding computer networks, wireless networks, mobile networks, and the Web, semantic technologies, and to establish new collaborations in these areas. Authors are invited to contribute to the conference by submitting articles that illustrate research results, projects, survey work, and industrial experiences describing significant advances in the areas of all computer networks and Semantic Web technologies. The NeCoM 2010, WiMoN 2010, and WeST 2010 committees rigorously invited submissions for many months from researchers, scientists, engineers, students, and practitioners related to the relevant themes and tracks of the workshop. This effort guaranteed submissions from an unparalleled number of internationally recognized top-level researchers. All the submissions underwent a strenuous peer review process which comprised expert reviewers. These reviewers were selected from a talented pool of Technical Committee members and external reviewers on the basis of their expertise. The papers were then reviewed based on their contributions, technical content, originality, and clarity.

Plunkett's Telecommunications Industry Almanac 2008: Telecommunications Industry Market Research, Statistics, Trends & Leading Companies Jack W. Plunkett, 2007-08. A market research guide to the telecommunications industry, a tool for strategic planning, competitive intelligence, employment searches, or financial research. It includes a chapter of trends, statistical tables, and an industry-specific glossary. It also provides profiles of the 500 successful companies in telecommunications.

Telecommunications Research Trends Hans F. Ulrich, Ernst P. Lehrmann, 2008. Telecommunication is the transmission of signals over a distance for the purpose of communication. In modern times, this process typically involves the sending of electromagnetic waves by electronic transmitters, but in earlier times, telecommunication may have involved the use of smoke signals, drums, or semaphore or heliograph. Today, telecommunication is widespread, and devices that assist the process, such as the television, radio, and telephone, are common in many parts of the world. There are also many networks that connect these devices, including computer networks, public telephone networks, radio networks, and television networks. Computer communication across the Internet is one of many examples of telecommunication. This book presents the latest research from around the world.

Third International Conference on Plastic Optical Fibres & Applications, 1994

Basic Concepts for Managing Telecommunications Networks Lawrence Bernstein, C.M. Yuhas, 2005-11-25. It is important to understand what came before and how to meld new products with legacy systems. Network managers need to understand the context and origins of the systems they are using. Programmers need an understanding of the reasons behind the interfaces they must satisfy and the relationship of the software they build to the whole network. And finally, sales representatives need to see the context into which their products must fit.
