Brunn, 2015-02-03 This extensive work explores the changing world of religions faiths and practices It discusses a broad range of issues and phenomena that are related to religion including nature ethics secularization gender and identity Broadening the context it studies the interrelation between religion and other fields including education business economics and law The book presents a vast array of examples to illustrate the changes that have taken place and have led to a new world map of religions Beginning with an introduction of the concept of the changing world religion map the book first focuses on nature ethics and the environment It examines humankind s eternal search for the sacred and discusses the emergence of green religion as a theme that cuts across many faiths Next the book turns to the theme of the pilgrimage illustrated by many examples from all parts of the world In its discussion of the interrelation between religion and education it looks at the role of missionary movements It explains the relationship between religion business economics and law by means of a discussion of legal and moral frameworks and the financial and business issues of religious organizations. The next part of the book explores the many new faces that are part of the religious landscape and culture of the Global North Europe Russia Australia and New Zealand the U S and Canada and the Global South Latin America Africa and Asia It does so by looking at specific population movements diasporas and the impact of globalization The volume next turns to secularization as both a phenomenon occurring in the Global religious North and as an emerging and distinguishing feature in the metropolitan cosmopolitan and gateway cities and regions in the Global South The final part of the book explores the changing world of religion in regards to gender and identity issues the political religious nexus and the new worlds associated with the virtual technologies and visual Internet Popular Culture and Jewish Values Lawrence H. Sherlick, Junhao Hong, 2008 Are the values of students media and their teachers threatened each time they enter the unchartered waters of the Internet's popular culture content The Internet has indeed come of age and as was the case with traditional mass media the Internet has been increasingly examined for its positive and negative effects particularly on children What triggered the present study was a newspaper article that described a ban on computers and the Internet imposed in October 1999 on its followers by the Belz Hasidic an Israeli Ultra Orthodox or Haredi religious sect This edict was also endorsed by 30 leading Ultra Orthodox rabbis from various other religious communities in Israel Explaining that this original prohibition against computers and the Internet was later revised to permit computer use but continue the ban on Internet access the article noted the Belz Hasidic sect determined that computers have proved valuable in teaching the Bible and in running businesses The Internet however was declared out of bounds largely because the information it exposed conflicted with Ultra Orthodox principles rejecting modernity popular culture and especially its proliferation of links to pornographic sites This study examines the convergence of religion elementary education Internet technology and popular culture messages within Jewish elementary school classrooms in Israel This research examines the methods used by Israeli computer coordinators to manage the convergence of Jewish or humanistic values with potentially conflicting Internet generated popular culture messages It asks what values whether Jewish values or human values at the core of the Jewish educator's belief system are important to transmit to their students It questions what types of popular culture messages carried by the Internet conflict with these values More importantly this study surveys how educators and students evaluate these conflicting messages in relation to the values they hold and the manner in which these conflicts are managed This is an important book for those in communication education Jewish studies and sociology of religion Exploring American Jewish History through 50 Historic Treasures Avi Y.
