and cartridges prior to the beginning of the Civil War and contracted with the inventor to produce the weapons at Harpers Ferry Armory However when the war began Morse a slave holding plantation owner determined that he could sell more of his guns in the South The South Carolina State Military Works originally designed to cast cannon produced Morse s carbine and modified muskets brass cartridges cartridge boxes and other military accoutrements The armory ultimately produced only about 1 350 Morse firearms For the next twenty years Morse sought to regain his legacy as the inventor of the center fire brass cartridges that are today standard ammunition for military and sporting firearms Does justice to one of the greatest stories in American firearms history If George Woodward Morse had not sided with the Confederacy his name might be as famous today as Colt or Winchester Gordon L Jones Atlanta History Center Excellent and well researched Patrick McCawley South Carolina Department of Archives and History For connoisseurs and scholars of military history especially Civil War history of technology or Southern South Carolina history this is a must read and reference volume pertaining to a previously little known aspect of the nineteenth century that had a far reaching impact in the manner wars would be fought by soldiers decades later Barry L Stiefel College of Charleston     Acts Passed at the ...
