Borrione, Heather J. Macpherson, 2024-12-03 Reshaping True Crime Stories from the Global Margins Voicing the Less Dead uses criminal cases news stories and media analysis from around the globe to reflect upon the thousands and thousands of missing and murdered individuals from marginalized communities Contributors ask readers to consider How do we see these human beings compared to others and how are they viewed by law enforcement and government officials These vulnerable populations are often rendered invisible so how do the media decide what story is told to the public and which one is neglected Drawing on Steven Egger's concept of the less dead this collection provides an interdisciplinary global perspective on how vulnerable groups are erased and demonstrates ways their stories can be made visible Connectivity and Global Studies Jan Nederveen Pieterse, 2021-02-19 This textbook provides readers with evocative and analytical accounts of social processes that are linked to globalization and connectivity which includes a wide range of multi centred connections in history DNA analysis technology art populism and political economy Rather than globalization Nederveen Pieterse focuses on connectivity His approach to globalization differs from both structuralist accounts of the world system and the institutionally centred focus of much work in international studies This synthesis will provide a new resource to reconstruct theoretical approaches to globalization and global studies Fluently written clearly organized and with an interdisciplinary approach the book will be accessible to upper division undergraduates and graduates in social sciences including students and researchers from the fields of sociology politics political economy development studies and international relations

Horror Fiction in the Global South Ritwick Bhattacharjee, Saikat Ghosh, 2021-04-30 Horror Fiction in the Global South Cultures Narratives and Representations believes that the experiences of horror are not just individual but also simultaneously cultural Within this understanding literary productions become rather potent sites for the relation of such experiences both on the individual and the cultural front It is not coincidental then that either William Blatty's The Exorcist or Gabriel Garcia Marquez's One Hundred Years of Solitude become archetypes of the representations of the way horror affects individuals placed inside different cultures Such an affectation though is but a beginning of the ways in which the supernatural interacts with the human and gives rise to horror Considering that almost all aspects of what we now designate as the Global North and its concomitant the Global South political historical social economic cultural and so on function as different paradigms the experiences of horror and their telling in stories become functionally different as well Added to this are the variations that one nation or culture of the east has from another The present anthology of essays in such a scheme of things seeks to examine and demonstrate these cultural differences embedded in the impact that figures of horror and specters of the night have on the narrative imagination of storytellers from the Global South If horror has an everyday presence in the phenomenal reality that Southern cultures subscribe to it demands alternative phenomenology The anthology allows scholars and connoisseurs of Horror to explore theoretical possibilities that may help address precisely such a need
