The Medieval English Landscape, 1000-1540 Graeme J. White,2012-09-06 The landscape of medieval England was the product of a multitude of hands While the power to shape the landscape inevitably lay with the Crown the nobility and the religious houses this study also highlights the contribution of the peasantry in the layout of rural settlements and ridge and furrow field works and the funding of parish churches by ordinary townsfolk The importance of population trends is emphasised as a major factor in shaping the medieval landscape the rising curve of the eleventh to thirteenth centuries imposing growing pressures on resources and the devastating impact of the Black Death leading to radical decline in the fourteenth century Opening with a broad ranging analysis of political and economic trends in medieval England the book progresses thematically to assess the impact of farming rural settlement towns the Church and fortification using many original case studies The concluding chapter charts the end of the medieval landscape with the dissolution of the monasteries the replacement of castles by country houses the ongoing enclosure of fields and the growth of towns

A History of Business in Medieval Europe, 1200-1550 Edwin S. Hunt,James M. Murray,1999-03-28 This book demolishes the widely held view that the phrase medieval business is an oxymoron The authors review the entire range of business in medieval western Europe probing its Roman and Christian heritage to discover the economic and political forces that shaped the organization of agriculture manufacturing construction mining transportation and marketing Businessmen s responses to the devastating plagues famines and warfare that beset Europe in the late Middle Ages are equally well covered Medieval businessmen s remarkable success in coping with this hostile new environment was a harvest of adversity that prepared the way for the economic expansion of the sixteenth century Two main themes run through this book First the force and direction of business development in this period stemmed primarily from the demands of the elite Second the lasting legacy of medieval businessmen was less their skillful adaptations of imported inventions than their brilliant innovations in business organization

An Illustrated History of Late Medieval England Chris Given-Wilson,1996 The late Middle Ages c 1200 1500 was an age of transition The major events of this period the Black Death the Hundred Years War the rise of Parliament the depositions of five English kings between 1327 and 1483 are examined in detail in this book A History of England,

Greenhalgh,2008-11-30 A broad survey of the various structural and decorative uses of marble and antiquities throughout the Mediterranean during the Millennium following the Emperor Constantine The heavy footprint of Roman civic and religious architecture helped provide attractive and luxurious building materials re used to construct diverse and often sophisticated monuments The book argues that marble rich sites and cities around this lake were linked at various times and in varying degrees by trade pilgrimage war and diplomacy as well as by the imperatives of religion Venice to Alexandria Damascus to Cordoba Aachen makes less sense without reference to Rome or Jerusalem Damascus without Kairouan Istanbul without Cairo To accompany the illustrations in the text the DVD at the back of the book contains over 5 000 images together with discussions which extend various arguments in the printed book Did Manufacturing Guilds Monopolize Markets in Medieval England Gary Richardson,2000 The Catholic Church and European State Formation, AD 1000-1500

Jørgen Møller,Jonathan Stavnskær Doucette,2022-06-13 Generations of social scientists and historians have argued that the escape from empire and consequent fragmentation of power across and within polities was a necessary condition for the European development of the modern territorial state modern representative democracy and modern levels of prosperity The Catholic Church and European State Formation AD 1000 1500 inserts the Catholic Church as the main engine of this persistent international and domestic power pluralism which has moulded European state formation for almost a millennium The crisis of church and state that began in the second half of the eleventh century is argued here as having fundamentally reshaped European patterns of state formation and regime change. It did so by doing away with the norm in historical societies: sacral monarchy. And by consolidating the two great balancing acts European state builders have been engaged in since the eleventh century: against strong social groups and against each other. The book traces the roots of this crisis to a large-scale breakdown of public authority in the Latin West which began in the ninth century and which at one and the same time incentivised and permitted a religious reform movement to radically transform the Catholic Church in the period from the late tenth century onwards. Drawing on a unique dataset of towns, parliaments and ecclesiastical institutions such as bishoprics and monasteries, the book documents how this church reform movement was crucial for the development and spread of self-government, the internal balancing act, and the weakening of the Holy Roman Empire, the external balancing act, in the period AD 1000-1500.

Wine has held its place for centuries at the heart of social and cultural life in western Europe. This book explains how and why this came about, providing a thematic history of wine and the wine trade in Europe in the middle ages from c 1000 to c 1500. Wine was one of the earliest commodities to be traded across the whole of western Europe. Because of its commercial importance, more is probably known about the way viticulture was undertaken and wine itself was made than the farming methods used with most other agricultural products at the time. Susan Rose addresses questions such as: Where were vines grown at this time? How was wine made and stored? Were there acknowledged distinctions in quality? How did traders operate? What were the social customs associated with wine drinking? What view was taken by moralists? How important was its association with Christian ritual? Did Islamic prohibitions on alcohol affect the wine trade? What other functions did wine have?
