Step Training Plus:

Shapewalking Marilyn L. Bach, Lorie Schleck, 2003 ShapeWalking goes beyond most fitness walking programs by adding toning and stretching to an aerobic walking regimen. Exercisers use their own body weight and portable exercise bands for strength training to help control weight, develop muscle, and prevent or reverse bone density loss. Addressing people of all fitness levels, the authors discuss getting started, setting attainable goals, achieving a target heart rate, and toning the most common trouble spots. Workouts include an antiosteoporosis workout that strengthens the bones most affected by the disease. Completely updated, this book also includes current resources, photos demonstrating proper form, charts for keeping track of progress, and safety tips for preventing injuries. Organization, 2024-10-02 Step Training Plus Lauren M. Mangili, 1999 Enriching Human Capital Through Training and Development P. L. Rao, 2009 The development of Human Resource has assumed importance particularly after the government's focus on HRD, introduction of liberalized economy, and globalisation of world trade. This has led to world trade competition. For this purpose, every corporate entity sought ISO certification, which enjoins on the industry to impart regular training to its workforce. Thus, training has taken center stage. HR is now considered as human capital, and much importance is given to the development and training of this unique resource. The one area in HR that found global visibility is training. Training has a direct relationship to HR's concern about human capital development and globalisation of workforce. People want to study at their own pace and time. The exciting development area is therefore e-learning. Keeping the above developments in view, it is imperative that business organisations should develop their own internal resources for training and development of their workforce. While giving stress on management development, most organizations ignore development and training of operatives who constitute the bulwark of their human capital. This aspect has been suitably taken care of in this book. This comprehensive book covers all aspects of training and development, starting from conceptual inputs to management of training environment, instructor's competencies, transfer of learning, IT-based training, to mention a few, should be presented to line managers. The book is divided into four parts: Training and Development, Training Delivery, Evaluation of Training, and the last part containing eleven Appendices relating to the Text. Attempt has been made to present the subject in a succinct and lucid manner, bringing the latest on the subject. The text focuses not only on the traditional training methods but also on the importance of development dimensions. This comprehensive compendium on training and development, sprinkled with copious examples, will be useful for the budding trainers, HR practitioners, and academicians alike.
