Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions, 2003 The Writers Directory, 2013 Teaching the Humanities Online: A Practical Guide to the Virtual Classroom Steven J. Hoffman, 2010-12-15 This practical guide is essential for anyone new to or intimidated by online instruction Drawing on the expertise of teachers of the humanities who have deep experiences in the online environment this work explores a variety of areas within the online teaching experience It discusses the differences between online and face to face learning environments and assesses and evaluates best practices in developing and teaching online courses This volume is not really about the technology but instead focuses on the ways in which available technologies can be used to enhance teaching in both synchronous and asynchronous forums and as such it will still be worth the read many years from now even in the face of rapid technological change Contributions from faculty members teaching in art education communication English history social studies education and interdisciplinary studies departments as well as directors of writing centers and online education and distance learning programs are included Essays in this volume will assist instructors faculty members and administrators new to the online experience but who want to learn more about making the transition to online teaching in navigating this transition gracefully Pastplay Kevin Kee, 2014-03-10 A collection of scholars and teachers of history unpack how computing technologies are transforming the ways that we learn communicate and teach Visual Learning Techniques Mason Ross, AI, 2025-02-22 Visual Learning Techniques explores how visual aids can unlock the potential of students with learning disabilities like dyslexia and ADHD

The book examines the cognitive science behind visual learning and its practical applications in education. It argues that evidence-based visual strategies are essential for inclusive education, improving comprehension, retention, and academic achievement. Did you know that understanding how the brain processes visual information is crucial for developing effective learning tools? Also, the book has original data from a pilot study assessing the impact of a newly developed visual learning module on reading comprehension in dyslexic students. The book takes a comprehensive approach, starting with the theoretical foundations of visual learning, then delving into specific techniques like concept mapping and multimedia presentations. It dedicates chapters to different learning disabilities, outlining targeted visual strategies for each. The personalized approach provides recommendations based on individual needs, supported by a framework for assessing visual learning preferences. The book culminates in case studies demonstrating the effectiveness of visual learning in real-world settings, offering practical guidelines for educators and parents to implement these strategies. By leveraging the strengths of visual processing, educators can create more accessible and engaging learning environments.

The AHA Guide to Teaching and Learning with New Media

John F. McClymer, 2005

Communication and Information Technology in (Intercultural) Language Teaching Mariusz Marczak, 2014-07-03 The topic of this book is in congruence with the current trends in foreign language education worldwide. On the one hand, it tackles the concept and implementation of intercultural language teaching; on the other, it analyses the circumstances in which information and communication technology may be utilised in the contemporary EFL classroom. Both intercultural teaching and Computer Assisted Language Learning (CALL) have been promoted by national and international educational documents in Europe, the USA, and Asia, and endorsed by international organisations including the Council of Europe and UNESCO. This book constitutes a pioneering attempt at establishing the role of ICT in English language and culture teaching within the Polish education system. However, the research instruments used within both research modules are applicable to other education systems worldwide, while the results obtained have implications for intercultural and computer-assisted language education in international contexts. The research results presented in the book highlight to the broad EFL profession a wide range of issues relating to the use of ICT in the foreign language classroom. They also offer materials, writers, software designers, and EFL teachers criteria with which to evaluate the intercultural component of CALL software.
