Mann,1999-12-15 This 21 chapter volume provides a regionally comprehensive collection of original studies of Caribbean basins conducted by academic and petroleum geologists and geophysicists in the early and mid 1990s The common tectonic events discussed in the volume including the rifting and passive margin history of North and South America that led to the formation of the Caribbean region the entry of an exotic Pacific derived Great Arc of the Caribbean at the leading edge of the Caribbean oceanic plateau the terminal collision of the arc and plateau with the passive margins fringing North and South America and subsequent strike slip and accretionary tectonics that affected the arc continent collision zone Two introductory chapters Part A utilize recent advances in quantitative plate tectonic modeling and satellite based gravity measurements to place the main phases of Caribbean basin formation into a global plate tectonic framework Nineteen subsequent chapters are organized geographically and focus on individual or groups of genetically linked basins Part B consists of five chapters which mainly focus on basins overlying the North America plate in the Gulf of Mexico Cuba and the Bahamas that record its rifting from South America in late Jurassic to Cretaceous time Part C has six chapters that focus on smaller usually heavily faulted and onshore Cenozoic basins of the northern Caribbean that formed in response to arc collisional and strike slip activity along the evolving North America Caribbean plate boundary The two chapters in Part D focus on Cenozoic basins related to the Lesser Antilles arc system of the eastern Caribbean Part E is comprised of three chapters on the Jurassic Recent sedimentary basins of the eastern Venezuela and Trinidad area of the southeastern Caribbean These basins reflect both the Jurassic Cretaceous rifting and passive margin history of separation between the North and South America plates as well as a much younger phase of

Oligocene to recent transpression between the eastward migrating Lesser Antilles arc and accretionary wedge and the South America continent The three chapters of Part F contain deep penetration seismic reflection and other geophysical data on the largely submarine Cretaceous Caribbean oceanic plateau that forms the nucleus of the present day Caribbean plate The Caribbean Court of Justice Duke E. Pollard, 2004 What do we really know about the impending Caribbean Court of Justice The vexed issue of the Court's establishment has been the subject of much debate but how much of this debate is informed by the facts This book bridges the information gap and provides an authoritative guide to the composition function and administration of this new Court In a comprehensive yet clear and concise style the reader is given a background to the more contentious issues such as the funding of the Court its constitutionality its original and appellate jurisdiction and the process of delinking from the Privy Council The exposition and analysis is complemented by an Appendix which includes the Agreements Establishing the Caribbean Court of Justice and the CCJ Trust Fund as well as the accords concerning the Regional Judicial and Legal Services Commission Everyday Mathematics for Caribbean Schools Clarrie Layne, Susan Llewellyn, Alex Greer, 1995 Attempting to put maths in situations which will interest the pupil this book contains exercises and examples which are drawn from real life problems which are familiar to students in the Caribbean Early African Caribbean Newspapers as Archipelagic Media in the Emancipation Age Johanna Seibert, 2022-11-21 Early African Caribbean Newspapers as Archipelagic Media in the Emancipation Age shows how two Black edited periodical publications in the early decades of the nineteenth century worked towards emancipation through medium specific interventions across material and immaterial lines More concretely this book proposes an archipelagic framework for understanding the emancipatory struggles of the Antigua Weekly Register in St John's and the Jamaica Watchman in Kingston Complicating the prevalent narrative about the Register and the Watchman as organs of the free people of color this book continues to explore the heterogeneity and evolution of Black newspaper print on the liberal spectrum As such Early African Caribbean Newspapers makes the case that the Register and the Watchman participated in shaping the contemporary communication market in the Caribbean To do so this study engages deeply with both the textuality and materiality of the newspaper and presents fresh visual material Retelling the Caribbean Laura Ekberg, 2025-09-26 Retelling the Caribbean examines heterolingualism in Anglophone Caribbean novels and their Finnish translations Heterolingualism such as various types of code switching is utilised by many Caribbean authors to represent the linguistic multiplicity of Caribbean cultures Switching between different languages is a natural part of communication in Caribbean communities Consequently issues of language and cultural representation have become an integral part of the Caribbean literary tradition This study is located at an intersection between the notion of intercultural translation employed in Postcolonial Studies and the notion of interlingual translation that is at the centre of Translation Studies examining both the original novels and their Finnish translations as forms of translation The book maps the strategies used by the Finnish translators of these heterolingual texts comparing them to the strategies used by the authors in the representation of Caribbean language and culture in the original literary works Through textual analysis of works spanning five decades of translated Anglophone Caribbean fiction in Finnish as well as translator interviews the book sheds light on some of the central issues related to cultural representation in the translation of heterolingual literary works

Locating the Destitute Stanka Radovic,2014-07-29 While postcolonial discourse in the Caribbean has drawn attention to colonialism's impact on space and spatial hierarchy Stanka Radovi asks both how ordinary people as users of space have been excluded from active and autonomous participation in shaping their daily spatial reality and how they challenge this exclusion In a comparative interdisciplinary reading of anglophone and francophone Caribbean literature and contemporary spatial theory she focuses on the house as a literary figure and the ways that fiction and acts of storytelling resist the oppressive hierarchies of colonial and neocolonial domination The author engages with the theories of Henri Lefebvre Michel Foucault and contemporary critical geographers in addition to selected fiction by V S Naipaul Patrick Chamoiseau Beryl Gilroy and Rafael Confiant to examine the novelists construction of narrative houses to reclaim not only actual or imaginary places but also the very conditions of self representation Radovi ultimately argues for the power of literary imagination to contest the limitations of geopolitical boundaries by emphasizing space and place as fundamental to our understanding of social and political identity The physical places described in these texts crystallize the protagonists ambiguous and complex relationship to the New World Space is then as the author shows both a political fact and a powerful metaphor whose imaginary potential continually challenges its material limitations
