Thomas Griffiths

The Black Republic Liberia Its Political And Social Conditions Today:

Veiled Power Doreen Lustig, 2020-05-27 Veiled Power conducts a thorough historical study of the relationship between international law and business corporations. It chronicles the emergence of the contemporary legal architecture for corporations in international law between 1886 and 1981. Doreen Lustig traces the relationship between two legal veils: the sovereign veil of the state and the corporate veil of the company. The interplay between these two veils constitutes the conceptual framework this book offers for the legal analysis of corporations in international law. By weaving together five in-depth case studies: Firestone in Liberia, the Industrialist Trials at Nuremberg, the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, Barcelona Traction, and the emergence of the international investment law regime, a variety of contexts are covered, including international criminal law, human rights, natural resources, and the multinational corporation as a subject of regulatory concern. Together, these case studies offer a multifaceted account of the history of corporations in international law over time. The book seeks to demonstrate the facilitative role of international law in shaping and limiting the scope of responsibility of the private business corporation from the late nineteenth century and throughout the twentieth century. Ultimately, Lustig suggests that, contrary to the prevailing belief that international law failed to adequately regulate private corporations, there is a history of close engagement between the two that allowed corporations to exert influence under a variety of legal regimes while obscuring their agency. Brothers and Strangers Ibrahim Sundiata, 2004-02-03 An account of the rise, fall, and persistence of the 20th century's Black Zionist dream, the movement's creation of a homeland in Africa. A

New Series St. Louis Public Library, 1920 Undoing Things Gavin Lucas, Shannon Lee Dawdy, 2025-05-26 Undoing Things explores all the ways in which things become undone: be they objects, bodies, places, or worlds. Although archaeologists have long attended to the productive dimensions of materiality and material culture as a coherent phenomenon making objects, building things, constructing identities, the discourse around undoing is more fragmented. Topics such as ruination, death, decay, demolition, and collapse are usually examined separately. Undoing Things asks what connections or continuities can be discerned in a diverse range of practices, both intentional and taphonomic, both destructive and healing. Is there a creative component to undoing? How visible are different processes of undoing? How is time implicated? Is undoing reversible? Who has the power to undo, and when is undoing empowering? What does it take to undo knowledge? These and other questions are examined through archaeological studies ranging from classical Maya and colonial Caribbean examples to present-day Liberia, historical and ethnographic approaches to present-day Argentina, and the contemporary art world. In the first quarter of the 21st century, human worlds have experienced a series of ruptures from climate-related disasters, political violence, and the Covid-19 pandemic. Undoing Things helps move us beyond a cloud of chaos with a deeper understanding of how and why things fall apart and is vital reading for nations ones which essentially have no future How could this have happened Through the scope of the 1960 s the first decade of African independence Peter Schwab presents a compelling and provocative answer to this question Designing West Africa tells the story of a pivotal decade in African history when the fate of the continent was decided Focusing on the six most visible leaders of the period painting detailed portraits of them both as leaders and as people Schwab looks at how Africa served as a ground to play out larger international conflicts namely the Cold War He does not fall back on blaming non African involvement for the failure to build a visible leadership for the continent rather he critiques the African leaders themselves for their individual failings Negro Yearbook ,1925 The Evolution of Deadly Conflict in Liberia Jeremy I. Levitt,2005 This book represents the first attempt to holistically document and analyze the causes of deadly conflict in Liberia from its founding to the present It reconstructs and examines the root operational and catalytic causes of eighteen internal deadly conflicts that transpired in Liberia between 1822 and 2003 including the 1980 coup d e tat against the Tolbert regime and the Great War 1989 2003 The book seeks to answer two primary questions What are the historical causes of deadly conflict in Liberia and To what extent has the evolution of settler nationalism and authoritarianism contributed to the stimulation of conflict between settler and native Liberians To answer these questions Levitt examines a continuum of circular causation among the state of affairs that led to the founding of the Liberian State the evolution of settler authoritarianism and nationalism and internal conflict By analyzing these processes together the causes of eighteen conflicts are revealed and thoroughly discussed The book also has three major objectives to determine the historical causes of deadly conflict in Liberia in particular the underlining historical phenomena responsible for birthing the Great War to present an alternative framework to comprehend and examine the aged conflict dynamic between settler and indigenous Liberians and within Liberian society itself and to produce the first comprehensive study of deadly conflict in Liberia This book advantageously spans the fields of political science history international law and peace and conflict studies it is an excellent interdisciplinary choice Dr Levitt has meticulously investigated the major violent conflicts in Liberia s tortured history and convincingly traced their roots to political institutions of domination and control that remain at the foundation of Liberia s system of governance today The book s message for Liberia s future is unmistakable Amos Sawyer Professor and Associate Director Workshop in Political Theory and Policy Analysis Indiana University Bloomington and former Interim President of Liberia IGNU T he definitive work on the causes of Liberia s cycle of deadly conflict The vital importance of Dr Levitt s work is clear only by understanding those root causes can Liberians and those who wish them well hope to find an exit from the cycle David Wippman Professor of Law and Vice Provost for International Relations Cornell University This is an excellent book Levitt deserves great credit for its quality thoroughness and the care of his research Crawford Young Professor Emeritus Department of Political Science University of Wisconsin Madison A n original work with fresh perspective that is well grounded in history and theory and of great value to Liberian studies and to the theoretical literature on deadly conflict D Elwood Dunn Professor Chair of Political Science University of the South TN Former Liberian Government Official Levitt s painstaking documentation of the deadly conflicts makes a most useful contribution to the on going governance debate This work is a major contribution to understanding the primary factors that collapsed the Liberian state Dr Byron Tarr Development Consultants Inc Monrovia Liberia Levitt for his part makes a major contribution to our understanding both of Liberia s past and how that past ought to inform our understanding of the present Indeed his is the first systematic accounting for the many nation building conflicts of Liberia African Studies Review Whitaker's Books in Print ,1990
