A practical compendium of top life skills and universal human values from a social sciences perspective Sujay Rao Mandavilli, 2025-05-24

A skill as it is understood in everyday parlance refers to either the actively and consciously learned or the innate and intrinsic ability to act towards the achievement of a goal or a set of goals with steadfastness determined precision and vigour and through the use of fixed and a calculated amount of time energy and financial resources Skills are often subdivided into general and activity specific or focused skills Common examples of general skills include general and time management hard work and commitment teambuilding and teamwork and thought leadership besides self and third party motivation In contrast activity or domain specific skills refer to those skills that are applicable only for a specific kind of activity for e.g. carrying out a military operation or achieving expertise on a particular subject A skill may be called an art when it represents a body of knowledge or branch of learning such as in the case of the art of precision surgery or the art of warfare All types of human quotidian activities require some type of skills though the degree and extent of skills may vary on a case to case basis Jobs also require some kinds of skills to varying degrees and jobs may be classified and categorized into unskilled jobs semi skilled jobs and skilled jobs Examples of unskilled jobs include that of a restaurant waiter This kind of job however requires a basic degree of skills such as customer management and customer service examples of semi skilled jobs include that of a chef while examples of a job requiring a high degree of skills may be that of an aeronautical engineer The latter requires years of training and practice and many formal certifications to boot

Lifelong Action Learning for Community Development Ortrun Zuber-Skerritt, Richard Teare, 2013-10-30 This book explains and demonstrates how indigenous communities built on traditional knowledge culture and language can be extended and strengthened by 1 the new integrated methodology of Lifelong Action Learning LAL and 2 new approaches to learning and development as exemplified by the system of GULL Global University for Lifelong Learning. The GULL system harnesses the potential of people to bring about positive change together characterized by self reliance, financial independence and cascading learning and benefits to others. It is a self directed and self sustainable process of learning and growth. The case studies in this book provide evidence that over time economically very poor communities can achieve transformations that bring with them many benefits personally, professionally and for the community. This book manages to accomplish an almost impossible goal to be both deeply inspirational and highly practical all at the same time.

Professor Mary Brydon Miller USA: I was sold on this book from the foreword, the need to rethink how we think about and do education is emerging as a hot topic among academics.

Professor Lesley Wood South Africa: All development practitioners and students should study this book carefully as should aid bureaucrats and aid donors.

Dr Chad Perry Australia: In this book Ortrun Zuber Skeritt and Richard Teare invite us to re think, re evaluate and re create our views of learning.

Associate Professor Doris Santos Colombia: In this new book the authors present challenging and original models for encouraging community and social development work.

Drawing on a Lifelong Action Learning (LAL) approach, they challenge Western dominated approaches to learning, encouraging the development of local solutions for local needs.

Dr Pip Bruce Ferguson New Zealand: By bringing education to the people rather than people to education, they create the possibility for real personal, organizational and community learning on the ground in developing countries.

Dr Ron Passfield Australia: The genius of this book is its simplicity. It provides a sound approach to addressing the holes in our mainstream approaches to education, training, development and in living together in communities through providing a new understanding of lifelong action learning and how to achieve it through proactively cultivating and passing on local knowledge.

Dr Frank Thompson Africa: I believe this book has the potential to transform the century old teaching and learning paradigm that is failing many countries to one that is futures oriented and transformational in nature. This is a book that all educators need to read and to consider within their own learning context.

Dr Margaret Fletcher Australia: This book will be useful to international community developers, educators and researchers especially if they are looking for alternative ways of successfully improving living conditions for disadvantaged and subsistence communities.

P.k.manoharan, Adolescence in India

Gomathi Jatin Shah, Sybil Thomas, 2021-12-24: Adolescence in India: An Interdisciplinary Perspective highlights the need and importance of studying adolescence in the domain of education. Using an interdisciplinary approach, it discusses adolescence from the perspective of sociology, psychology, education and health studies. Against the backdrop of economic development and globalization, the book looks at adolescence in the changing social milieu. It offers an understanding of adolescence by exploring the socio cultural influences on adolescents and their interactions in various spaces like the school, among peers, family and the media. The book reflects on classroom group processes and instructional practices for better psychosocial growth of adolescents as well as discusses the need for a greater emphasis on making resources available for adolescents to realise and strengthen their skills and agency. The book outlines various life skills policies and programmes in India and uses vignettes, anecdotes, emerging classroom discussions, case studies, activities and self-assessment tools and questionnaires to facilitate a deeper understanding of the concept. The book will be of interest to students, teachers and educators in teaching programmes including educational psychology, adolescent psychology and human development. It will also be useful for policymakers, NGOs and public and private sector bodies who work in the field of adolescent psychology.
