Strategies For Academic Communication Study Skills For The Advanced Esl Learner:

The Lived Experience of Chinese International Students in the U.S. Yalun Zhou, Michael Wei, 2020-12-21 This book marks a departure from traditional assumptions concerning the deficiencies of Chinese international students in terms of learning and adapting. It employs phenomenological narrative inquiry and a small culture approach to investigate the evolved fluid experience of pursuing a graduate degree in the U.S. at Blue Fountain University, a pseudonym for a mid-western university. Adopting an interdisciplinary perspective, this book addresses two fundamental questions: What study abroad is and what study abroad counts. The sociocultural dimensions that shape the cross-border degree-seeking endeavors inform stakeholders what works for Chinese international students' successful pursuits as EFL learners and ESL users and what could be improved. This book shares thoughts on the implications and impact of educational contexts to stakeholders at normal and dynamic contexts interrupted by global pandemic outbreak. It contributes to the understanding of the internationalization of the host institute and the EFL education reform efforts, policy making, teacher education, and classroom practice in China and in Asia at large. Resources in Education, 1999 Individual Differences in Second/Foreign Language Speech Production: Multidisciplinary Approaches and New Sounds Peijian Paul Sun, Boping Yuan, Xun Yan, Jimin Kahng, 2023-09-01 Second foreign language L2 speech production is a complex process requiring individuals' combined efforts to utilize various processing components such as conceptualiser, formulator, and articulator. Since the publication of Pim Levelt's book Speaking: From Intention to Articulation in 1989, a considerable number of studies have examined L2 speech production in the field of neuroscience with a particular focus on the link between speech perception and speech production. Undeniably, a neurolinguistic examination of speech production can enrich our understanding of how human brains compute linguistic information at a cognitive level. However, it is insufficient by only focusing on the neurocognitive dimension of speech production given that individuals' speech production can be subject to various individual differences factors, either cognitively, affectively, or socio-culturally. It is therefore necessary to move beyond the neurocognitive understanding of speech production by taking every possible perspective into consideration. Individual difference as an umbrella term covers psychological traits, personal characteristics, cognitive and emotional components that distinguish learners from each other. Given that individual difference factors can reveal disparities in L2 learning and performance among learners, such factors have attracted researchers' growing interest concerning their influences on L2 speech processing, their relationships with L2 speech performance, and their contributions to L2 speech development. Nevertheless, our understanding of L2 speech production is not only insufficient compared to other L2 skills such as writing and reading but also limited to the neurocognitive account of L2 speech production. More research therefore is in urgent need to uncover the influence of various individual differences factors on L2 speech production from multidisciplinary perspectives. The Post-pandemic Landscape of Education and Beyond: Innovation and Transformation Anna Wing Bo TSO, Steven Kwan Keung
