

How to promote innovation and innovative thinking in an organization

Crafting an organizational culture that enables innovation is a top-down and bottom-up endeavour, dependent on managers and employees alike.

Foster organizational warmth

A 'warm' organization is supportive, approachable and amicable. There is positive contact between employees, individuals feel supported by their peers, and everyone is on the same side.

Encourage tolerance for failure and ambiguity

Employees and leaders are treated with care, interest, and emotional intelligence. It is alright to be wrong. Social activities that enhance trust are desirable and help loosen up strict hierarchies.

Nurture a long-term future orientation

Organizational members should be united by a vision that carries the organization forward. The present is a time in which the future is crafted. Optimism nurtures motivation and ideas.
