Talking Back, 1973 Reinventing Government or Reinventing Ourselves Hindy L. Schachter, 1997-01-01 By analyzing a turn of the century model of urban reform that depicts this relationship between citizens and government Schachter shows how reinvigorating an active public is essential to increasing agency efficiency and responsiveness She offers two strategies for moving toward active citizenship better citizenship education including service learning and public agencies provision of better focused information for their owners

Media Decentralization DÄñ KaspÄ®, Dan Caspi offers a comprehensive introduction to the Israeli mass media and a fresh theoretical look at the role and function of a free press in a democratic society Two major issues underlie this study patterned after the pioneering work of Morris Janowitz on the community press in the United States relations between social and communications systems and reciprocal relations among various mass media Caspi s primary concern is to determine whether the recent flourishing of a local press in the form of weekly tabloids sold or distributed free throughout their respective cities reflects and in turn contributes to a process of social and political decentralization The Israeli audience thirsts for information The nationwide mass media developed in the shadow of a centralist political system is rigid and inflexible downplaying the news value of local events and attending only to Israel s acutely felt security and economic problems Hence there is a burgeoning of over a hundred local newspapers to fill the need for a more intimate press Contents Media Decentralization in a Centralized System Some General Trends and a Communication Model The Daily Press in Israel The Development of the Local Press Institutional Characteristics Personnel Characteristics Functional Characteristics The Struggle between the Local and Nationwide Press The Inception of the Local Press in Four Major Cities Jerusalem Tel Aviv Haifa and Beersheba Public Support Political Approaches

Determinants of Public Interest Cable Communications Policies Stephen C. Godek, 1996 In this book the author asks how new technologies can be organized to operate in the public s interest and addresses the problem this question poses when applied to cable technology Contents List of Tables and Figures Acknowledgements Problems in Cable Communication Policy Public Interests and Cable Communications Explanations for Cable Community Interest Policies Three Pure Types An Empirical Examination of Explanations for Cable Community Interest Policies An Organizational Explanation Examining the Organizational Model Regulating Cable Communications Conclusions and Recommendations Appendix Variable Names Definitions and Sources Bibliography Index
