Snowboard Skiing American Teaching Systems:

The Physics of Skiing David A. Lind, Scott P. Sanders, 2013-06-29 Just over ten years ago when the first drafts of this book were being written and even more so a few years after that as it was making its way through the publication process alpine skiing was experiencing what eventually became a complete revolution in equipment and technique shaped or parabolic skis completely took over the market and even relatively beginning skiers expected to carve graceful turns as they schussed down the slopes. Re-reading our work with an eye to revision we have been surprised to see how our focus on the physics of skiing in the first edition allowed us to recognize the fundamental importance of what were then quite novel changes in equipment and technique. The essence of the enhancement offered by shaped skis is their greater sidecut radius. Our original discussion then and now in Chapters 3 and 4 of the crucial role that a ski's sidecut plays in carving a turn caused us to write for the most part as if the shaped ski had always been in existence. Similarly our interest in the geometry of the sidecut allowed us to discuss snowboards in some detail as well for the key to their ability to shred down the mountain is their deep sidecut.

It takes no advertising, has no axe to grind and is written by Leocha together with an international team of prize-winning ski and snowboard journalists. The writers let skiers and snowboarders know whether the resort is a cluster of condominiums clinging to a steep slope or a traditional mountain village exuding old world atmosphere and whether they should pack a sequined gown or simply blue jeans for the nightlife. They also give a no-nonsense accurate and dependable rating of the ski terrain. Ski Snowboard America includes expanded up-to-date coverage of more than 100 resorts in the U.S. and Canada. Readers will learn about cross-country trails surrounding the resorts as well as details about current prices for lift tickets and ski school programs, complete children and day care programs plus lodging, dining and nightlife.
